2.3 million people fish in Minnesota yearly

Fishing Facts/Figures

According to Department of Natural Resources information, an estimated 2.3 million people fish Minnesota's waters every year – putting the state among the national leaders in the number of anglers per capita.

Fishing is big business in the state, with sport fishing in Minnesota generating $1 billion in direct expenditures each year.

Some other facts that indicate many Minnesotans will be wetting their line this summer:

- Minnesota has about 5,500 game fish lakes and 15,000 miles of fishable streams.
- Those waters yield an estimated harvest of 3.5 million walleyes annually, totaling 4 million pounds.
- About 64 million panfish are harvested annually, weighing a total of 21 million pounds.
- Fishing pressure on Minnesota waters has more than doubled since 1950, when an estimated 1 million anglers fished in the state.
- Anglers fish an average of 17 days each year, and spend an estimated $585 each doing it.
- Minnesota ranks behind only California, Texas and Michigan in number of paid fishing license holders (1,536,568), according to a 1991 U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service survey.

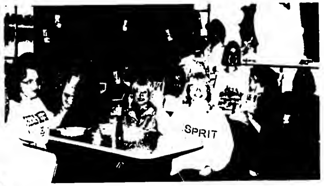
Bikes of all kinds, from fat tire racers to high-tech road racers were used during the Ninth Annual TRF Pepsi-Cola Triathlon held in Thief River Falls Saturday.



Children from Camp Courage stopped at Kentucky Fried Chicken in Thief River Falls for a free meal last week. Marla St. Martin, owner, said Camp Courage is one of the favorite projects. The children participating in the two-week long day camp called Camp Courage, were between the ages of 9 and 13. They participate in a number of activities. On this day they had learned how to make gift tags from dried flowers, which was demonstrated by Dsyna Holland. Camp Counselors during the day were Jeny Stumpf and Shane Skeim. St. Martin said Kentucky Fried Chicken has been providing free meals for the children for many years. Also pictured with the campers and counselors are Jean Nissen, manager, and Marlane Jimenez, buffet manager.

Youngsters participating in the pool party at the Franklin Middle School Saturday had a good time. About 40 youngsters signed up for games, relays, races, penny dives, Scuba demonstration by the Pennington County Search and Rescue team, prizes, water basketball and inner-tube polo. The event, which was held following the Thief River Falls Pepsi-Cola Triathlon, was a fund-raising event for the Thief River Falls Swim Club. The activities kept the youngsters cooled off and busy from noon to 6 p.m.

Applications available for border permit

The Employment and Immigration Canada office offers guidelines for applying for a remote area border crossing (RABC) permit.

Permits issued to U.S. "local residents" will be subject to yearly renewal. "Visitors" to the area will receive a permit valid for the duration of their stay. Permits issued to Canadian "local residents" will be valid for the duration of the project.

Applications can be made either by mail or in person. In person, the completed form should be presented to an immigration officer at one of the following ports of entry: Pigeon River Bridge, Rainy River International Bridge, Fort Frances International Bridge or Emerson.

When applying for a permit, the applicant should possess proof of Canadian or U.S. citizenship or proof of legal permanent residence in either country. In most instances, a decision will be rendered while the applicant waits.

When applying by mail, applicants living in Manitoba or crossing the U.S. border directly to Manitoba should mail their applications and supporting documentation to: Canada Immigration Centre, Customs-Immigration Highway Building, Highway 29 (Emerson West), P.O. Box 425, Emerson, Manitoba, R0A 0L0.

Applicants living in Ontario or crossing the U.S. border directly into Ontario should send the completed application, along with a photocopy of documentary proof of citizenship or permanent residence to: Canada Immigration Centre, 204 First Street East, Fort Frances, Ontario, P9A 1K5.

The applications may take up to four weeks to process, from the day they are received. Canadian citizens or permanent residents applying by mail will receive a mailed response, unless an interview is felt to be necessary. U.S. citizens or alien residents must pick up the approved permit in person at either a regular or a seasonal Port of Entry.

The application must specify when and where the permit will be picked up, otherwise the necessary documentation will not be waiting when the applicant arrives.

For further information about the RABC permit, contact Canada Immigration at one of the following locations: Pigeon River Bridge, 807-964-2095; Rainy River International Bridge, 807-852-3968; Fort Frances International Bridge, 807-274-9780; or Emerson, 204-373-2197.

The Second Secti

Lincoln high school students taking Lynn Dyer's personal law class can participate in a program called Ride-along. The program gives students an opportunity to see what police officers really do. Students sign up for two two-hour shifts to ride along with officers. This is the second successful year for the program. Pictured above, from left are: Officer Scott Mealowski, Jenny Nicholson, Ami Harbott, Corey Thorson and Police Chief Ken Froschheiser.

Ride-Along is big hit with TRF students

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Taking a page from the curriculum of another Minnesota school, Lynn Dyer arranged for his high school personal law class to ride along with police in Thief River Falls during a four hour period.

"It's a big hit with the students," said Dyer. "Once they've been on the ride-along, many have asked to do it again."

Dyer recognizes that there is an inherent danger in such an activity so students must get permission from parents before they participate in the ride-along.

Dyer explains in the permission slip to parents that the ride-along will give students an opportunity to ride a four-hour shift with a police officer, and tour the law enforcement center. This gives students the opportunity to see a more personal side of the law enforcement officers, as well as a better understanding of what their job entails, he explains. But, Dyer also explains that parents and guardians must understand that it may be possible that the student could be called as a witness to something they heard, saw or experienced with the officer; and, some of their experiences may be confidential and cannot be discussed with anyone outside the law enforcement center.

Before the students ride with the officers, Police Chief Ken Froschheiser talks to the class and discusses some of the rules and regulations that the students must follow. Dyer said the students are made to understand that the officer will use his or her best judgement and is in charge at all times. If the officer says stay in the car, the students do so. And so far there haven't been any problems.

Dyer said the students have been fortunate to view some interesting incidents that have taken place in the community. Much of what they see during the two two-hour shifts must be reported the next day to the personal law class. Part of the discussion held prior to their ride-along involves confidentiality. Sometimes the students can't discuss what they observed, and Dyer understands that that's just part of the experience.

Throughout the experience, the students have developed a real good relationship with the officers, Dyer said. In addition, the class has learned respect and understanding for police officers. The program also fits into the class subjects.

The subjects taught in this class include learning how a law is created and how it is exercised. Dyer believes the students like the ride-along program so much because it makes the lessons learned in class more real.

Students are not required to participate in the program, however. The ride-along program is just one option. The students can also choose to attend city council or county board meetings or other meetings, which involve the creation of law. They may also write reports. Of the 30 students in the class this year, 29 participated in the ride-along program.

This is the second year that Dyer has made the ride-along program available to students. Because of

Unemployment in region drops slightly

Rate of unemployment in Pennington county dropped slightly during the past month, but it is slightly higher than the unemployment rate recorded one year ago for the same period.

The unemployment rate in Pennington county dropped from 9.5 per cent in March of 1993 to 8.7 per cent in April of 1993. The number of individuals employed in Pennington county in April of 1993 also climbed from 6,379 to 6,726. Despite the drop in unemployment, the unemployment figures from April of 1992 were slightly better. In April of 1992 the unemployment rate was 8.6 per cent.

In Region 1, the overall rate of unemployment for April of 1993 was 8.6 per cent. That also represents a slight drop from March of 1993 when the rate of unemployment was 9.0 per cent in the region. Once again, however, the rate of unemployment for April of 1992 was slightly lower at 8 per cent.

In Region 1, which includes the counties of Kittson, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau, the highest rate of unemployment occurred in the county of Red Lake, which recorded an unemployment rate of 18.1 per cent. The lowest rate of unemployment was recorded in the county of Roseau. Roseau county was the only county in the region to record an increase in the rate of unemployment between March of 1993 and April of 1993.

Minnesota's unemployment rate declined slightly to 5.7 per cent in April from 5.8 per cent in March, according to Commissioner R. Jane Brown of the Minnesota Department of Jobs and Training.

Nationally, the rate was 6.8 per cent for April, down from a March reading of 7.3 per cent. A year ago, the state's rate was 5.1 per cent, and the U.S. rate was 7.1 per cent.

On a seasonally adjusted basis, Minnesota's unemployment rate shows an increase from 5.1 per cent in March to 5.5 per cent in April. This is above the year ago seasonally adjusted rate of 4.9 per cent. The U.S. seasonally adjusted rate remained at 7.0 per cent in April, down from 7.3 per cent a year ago.

The Minneapolis-St. Paul metropolitan area unemployment rate was 4.7 per cent in April, the same as in March. With an average of 9.6 per cent, the northeast region had the highest unemployment rate. The lowest average rate among the regions was 4.6 per cent for the seven-county Twin Cities area. Rock County had the lowest unemployment rate among the counties at 3.2 per cent while Clearwater County had the highest at 21.0 per cent.

The monthly survey of employers showed an increase of 22,700 non-agricultural wage and salary jobs in April from March. This is smaller than the average gain over the past 10 years. Construction, trade, and services each experienced an increase of over 6,000 jobs. The total number of U.S. jobs increased 0.7 per cent compared to the 1.0 per cent increase in Minnesota. On a seasonally adjusted basis, there was little change in Minnesota's or the U.S. employment.

The number of non-agricultural the success of the program and the interest of students in the program. Dyer plans to offer the program to students next year too.

The program wouldn't be possible without the cooperation, consideration and willingness of the Thief River Falls police department. Dyer said he really appreciated the efforts of the officers involved and Police Chief Ken Froschheiser. It shows the community that law enforcement does work closely with students in the community.

BIBLE STUDY

How to please the Lord

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

When Jesus returns and sets up His world-ruling government in Jerusalem, all the nations of the earth will stream into it. They will say, "Come, let us go up to the mountain of the Lord that He may teach us concerning His Ways, and that we may walk in His paths." He will teach people how to live their lives to please Him (Is. 2:2-3; Micah 4:1-4). Nation will not go to war against nation anymore, and they will never again learn war (Is. 2:4). Everyone will invite his neighbor over for dinner (Zech. 3:10).

What will Jesus Christ teach the nations concerning His Ways when they come up to Jerusalem? He will instruct them to help those in need (Matt. 25:31-40). "Dispense true justice, and practice righteousness by practicing kindness and compassion each to his brother. Do not oppress the widow or the orphan, the stranger or the poor; and do not devise evil in your hearts against one another," the Lord of Hosts says (Zech. 7:9-10). "These are the things you should do: speak the truth to one another; judge with truth and judgment for peace in your gates. Also let none of you devise evil in your heart against another, and do not love perjury; for all these are what I hate" (Zech. 8:16-17).

People in the past refused to pay attention to God (Zech. 7:11). But it is prophesied that people will listen when Jesus Christ comes back to rule the world (Zech. 8:20-23; 14:9).

Man says today, "What should I do to please the Lord? Offer my firstborn for my rebellious acts?" Christ says, "I have told you, oh man, what is good. Practice righteousness. Practice justice. Practice loving one another and being kind to one another and walk humbly with your God" (Micah 6:8). Isn't this what He told Cain (Gen. 4:7; 1 John 3:10-12), Abraham (Gen. 18:19), and Moses (Heb. 3:5)? And isn't this what Daniel knew and told the king (Dan. 4:27), and what Jesus told us? Overcome evil by practicing righteousness for God in His name for His glory (Rom. 12:21; Col. 3:17; Matt. 5:16). Practice hospitality by inviting the blind and lame over for dinner (Rom. 12:13; Luke 14:13). Share your clothes, your money and your food with those in need, and share your home with the weary traveler (Luke 3:11; 1 Tim. 6:17-18; 1 John 3:17).

We are without excuse when we consider the Scripture that says, "To the one who knows to do good (practice righteousness) and does it not, to him it is sin" (James 4:17). God's word also says, "How blessed are those who practice righteousness at all times" (Psalm 106:3; 11:7).

Grand opening held at SDA services building

Grand opening of the new Seventh Day Adventist Community Services building was held June 6.

"Community Services" is the name for the Christian social ministry of Seventh-day Adventist volunteers. Center services include: clothing disbursement to the needy; assistance in the event of disaster; a breathe free program to help stop smoking; a weight management program; nutrition and cooking schools; stress management; and helping disadvantaged children to summer camp.

These, and other services are designed to meet the needs of the local community. In addition, counseling is available for those who need a listening ear and a spiritual lift.

Volunteers and the Seventh-day Adventist church find the energy and motivation to provide the programs through Jesus' example.

Costs of the programs are taken care of by the local Seventh-day Adventist church together with generous contributions from the community through personal gifts and at the time of Harvest Ingathering program.

The new building was completed in 1992. Community Services at Seventh-day Adventist church, however, began on a small scale in the 1930s.

The Grand opening program was conducted by Pastor Forbes. Comments were given by Dr. Leo Herber and Thief River Falls Mayor Robert Reeve.

Seventh-Day Adventist members held a grand opening ceremony for their new Community Services building on June 6. The Center provides the following services: clothing disbursement to the needy; assistance in the event of disaster; a breathe free air program for smokers; a weight management program; nutrition and cooking classes; a stress management class; and provides assistance to disadvantaged children so they can attend summer camp.

Jack Kramer was selected as "Faculty of the Year" by the Northland Community College Faculty Association. Kramer has taught at NCC for the past 25 years in the mathematics and computer science areas. Kramer was also selected "Faculty Member of the Year" in 1988.

Refractive Surgery Can Dramatically Enhance Your Eyesight, So You're Much Less Dependent on Glasses or Contacts.

Glasses and Contacts Can Be a Hassle. Nearsightedness, farsightedness, and astigmatism affect more than 100 million people in North America ... and the quality of their lives. So, if you're tired of wearing glasses or contacts for cosmetic reasons or because of lifestyle or job limitations, Refractive Surgery may be worth looking into.

Richard L. Lindstrom, M.D.
Consultative Ophthalmology, Refractive & Laser Surgery

Refractive Surgery Works to Correct the Cause of Vision Problems. Refractive Surgery has been designed to correct nearsightedness. The precise microsurgery works by changing the shape of the cornea, thus correcting the way the eye focuses light. The 20 minute outpatient procedure can correct vision to 20/40 or better in 90% of the cases, and it's virtually painless. In fact, most patients return to work in two to three days. Even more reassuring is the fact that nearly 1,000,000 surgeries have been performed nationwide.

"I chose to have Refractive Surgery because I couldn't wear contacts ... and I like the way I look without glasses." ▶

A World-Renowned Refractive Eye Surgeon in the North Country. Dr. Richard L. Lindstrom is widely regarded as a leader in corneal, cataract, refractive, and laser eye surgery. And now, select Eye Specialists in northwestern Minnesota and northeastern North Dakota are able to offer Dr. Lindstrom's world-class Refractive Surgery services to their patients.

Reflectorized bands which attach around the arms and waist are being made available through a project of the Minnesota Traffic Safety Grant awarded to Pennington county. The bands are designed to protect skateboarders, in-line skaters, joggers, walkers and others who may be on the roadways at night. Two hundred sets which sell for $5 per set (or $2 for an armband only) have been made available through the Pennington county extension office and are manufactured by the local Occupational Development Center. Coordinator Dave Strong is shown attaching a waist band on five-year-old Dale Swenson while Dale's seven-year-old sister Lindsay wears arm bands and shows a safety bumper sticker. Dale and Lindsay are the children of Rob and Kim Swenson.

Refractive Surgery Can Dramatically Enhance Your Eyesight, So You're Much Less Dependent on Glasses or Contacts.

Glasses and Contacts Can Be a Hassle. Nearsightedness, farsightedness, and astigmatism affect more than 100 million people in North America ... and the quality of their lives. So, if you're tired of wearing glasses or contacts for cosmetic reasons or because of lifestyle or job limitations, Refractive Surgery may be worth looking into.

Richard L. Lindstrom, M.D.
Consultative Ophthalmology, Refractive & Laser Surgery

Refractive Surgery Works to Correct the Cause of Vision Problems. Refractive Surgery has been designed to correct nearsightedness. The precise microsurgery works by changing the shape of the cornea, thus correcting the way the eye focuses light. The 20 minute outpatient procedure can correct vision to 20/40 or better in 90% of the cases, and it's virtually painless. In fact, most patients return to work in two to three days. Even more reassuring is the fact that nearly 1,000,000 surgeries have been performed nationwide.

"I chose to have Refractive Surgery because I couldn't wear contacts ... and I like the way I look without glasses." ▶

A World-Renowned Refractive Eye Surgeon in the North Country. Dr. Richard L. Lindstrom is widely regarded as a leader in corneal, cataract, refractive, and laser eye surgery. And now, select Eye Specialists in northwestern Minnesota and northeastern North Dakota are able to offer Dr. Lindstrom's world-class Refractive Surgery services to their patients.

Is Refractive Surgery Right for You? To find out more about Refractive Surgery, you or a family member may want to attend a free information seminar. This eye-opening presentation lasts about one hour. Of course, there's no obligation, and free literature will be available. Space is limited, so call the phone number listed here today and let us know you'll be attending.

What Waste Could Buy

If calculations by an organization called Citizens Against Government Waste (CAGW) are accurate, the amount of tax money Americans will pay this year that will be simply wasted is equal to 34 per cent of annual federal income taxes paid by individuals.

For example, pointed out CAGW president Thomas A. Schatz in a news conference at the National Press Club, a median-income, two-earner family of four paid Uncle Sam $6,201 for 1992 federal income taxes. Of that amount, CAGW estimates that $2,108 paid for government waste.

Even more alarming, Schatz said, CAGW estimates that the family of four spent $3,647 just to pay interest on the national debt—about 60 per cent of their tax bill for debt service. That leaves just $446 of the tax bill for necessary government services coming from individual tax returns.

If CAGW is right—and the definition of "waste" may be open to question—the impact on the family and the nation's economy if the waste were eliminated could be enormous. According to Schatz, if the family of four could keep the $2,108 in wasted tax money, "the family could buy groceries for six months, pay for two house payments, put a down payment on a new car, buy clothing for eight months or pay almost a year's worth of health insurance premiums."

Schatz's point is that if families did not have to pay the "waste tax" they might be able to better afford health insurance premiums as well as many other living expenses, educational expenses and expenses associated with the care of older family members.

"The Waste Tax illustrates," he says, " that what is at stake in the fight against government waste is much more concrete than merely making government more efficient. It is a fight for the very things that government is always promising and almost always failing to adequately deliver—a better life for everyone."

CAGW compiled figures for the waste tax from both public and private waste-cutting recommendations and found that Americans were being taxed $170.4 billion in one year and $1.18 trillion over five years to pay for waste. "These cuts could be made today—if only our leaders had the will to do it," Schatz said.

He said CAGW studied ideas from the Congressional Budget Office, the Clinton Administration, Inspector General of the Department of Health and Human Services, Grace Commission and others. "CAGW believes that the Waste Tax answers pro-spending critics who keep asking for specifics on how to reduce the deficit," Schatz added.

"Money that families pay for the Waste Tax goes to pay for a variety of programs that need to be abolished or curtailed. They include programs that serve only narrow interests like earmarked funds for the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), programs that subsidize those who can take care of themselves like subsidies for foreign sales promotions of America's most profitable multinational corporations; programs that have fulfilled their original purpose like the Rural Electrification Administration, programs that are obsolete like wool and mohair subsidies and helium reserves; and redundant programs like the Appalachian Regional Commission which duplicates 14 other rural assistance programs," Schatz concludes.

To cite pork barrel spending in Congress, CAGW published the "1993 Congressional Pig Book Summary" which highlights 66 federal spending projects worth nearly $684 million. The book was not without its detractors.

"This method of labeling all government spending as pork serves only as a diversion from serious efforts to get our country on the road to economic recovery," stated Sen. Robert Byrd of West Virginia, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee. (Sen. Byrd is criticized in the book for getting 31 per cent of all federal highway spending allocated to his home state.)

The "Pig Book" lists only items that meet one or more of the following criteria:

° Requested by only one chamber of Congress;

- Not specifically authorized;
- Not competitively awarded;
- Not requested by the President;
- Greatly exceeds the President's budget request or the previous year's funding;
- Not the subject of Congressional hearings; or
- Serves only a local interest.

The listing was taken from 13 fiscal year 1993 appropriations bills. Many of the appropriations were added in conference and exceeded even the requests, such as $3.5 million for a visitor center at Lyndon B. Johnson National Historic Park in Texas, although the LBJ State Historic Park down the road already has a visitor center. The appropriation was $2.9 million above the budget request.

Perhaps everything that CAGW categorizes as waste may not be wasted, but most of the expenditures cited certainly are not in the national interest. And that should be a concern of any national government. Let the citizens spend their own money; the economy would show a much greater response than it does from the pork barrel.

Strandquist

The Strandquist Senior Citizens met at the Center with 18 members and four guests present. The afternoon was spent working on their pillow project and visiting. Anne Rud as hostess, served a nice lunch to the group, and Gilmen Stennes won the door prize. The next Thursday, they met again with 15 members and one guest. This time they played bingo until all had won a prize, and then they played bingo-blackout, at which time Helen Jacobson and Phylis Budziszewski each won. Evelyn Kline was the hostess with the lunch, and Anna Rud won the door prize. I have been invited to come this Thursday, and am looking forward to going.

Following the end of classes at Hamline University, Janny Anderson visited relatives in the Chatfield-Stewartville area, and then spent a few days at the Kevin and Beth Castleman home in Shakopee before coming home to spend the summer.

The name of Anita Kasprowicz of Thief River Falls was omitted from the listing of people at the surprise birthday party for Cathy Thompson, at the Isaac Thompson home May 21.

Families and friends of June Kasprowicz and Joan Gehrls gathered at June's cabin for an early birthday party for June and Joan. It was catered by Kelly Lefrooth with lots of eats and birthday cakes. One cake was for Kaye Turnwall and Lois Kleinvachter, whose birthdays are May 30th and June 9. Jean and Kristen Kleinvachter, and Alan Sott of Hensel, ND, came in the evening.

Visitors at Morris and Marcelyn Lindstrom's home the past two weeks to wish Marcy a speedy recovery from an accident that sent her to Grand Forks for a while were Pastor Norquist, Lloyd and Lois Lindstrom, Ted and Lori Johnson and family of Hallock, David, Michelle, Kristy and Hannah Lindstrom of Shoreview, Bob and Pat Lindstrom and family, Lois Carrico, Mary and Donna Ranstrom, Jeff and Margaret Donaldson and girls, LaVoi Thun, Elsie Lefrooth, and Roy and Myrtle Vegle.

They, together with Michelle and Jeremy Johnson, David, Phaela and Brent Thompson had potluck supper at Peter and Pearl Thompson's on Saturday. They left for home on Monday morning.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota — June 17, 1943

From The Times Files of Fifty Years Ago

Owner for "Seeing Eye" Dog Addresses Lions

"Donald Gillespie, blind piano tuner now making his headquarters in this city, addressed the Lions club at its luncheon meeting Wednesday at the Palm Garden cafe. He gave an interesting account of his experiences this spring at the Seeing-eye dog training center in New Jersey, where he acquired possession of a dog guide which he stated has proved a Godsend to him in making his way about the city. Mr. Gillespie lost his sight as the result of an accident in 1926."

106,833 Bottles Milk Distributed Here

"If all of the bottles of penny milk which were consumed in the Thief River Falls schools in the first five months of this year were laid end to end, they would reach from the Lincoln high school to two miles past St. Hilaire. These figures were released by the Pennington county welfare board today, and show that pupils in the city's schools paid out 106,833 pennies for that many bottles of milk. Since there were only 99 school days during that period, this is an average of better than 1,000 bottles a day. The penny milk program, under which a child buys a half pint for a penny, is administered by the welfare board."

Picnic at Old Crossing Treaty Park Sunday

"The Tenth anniversary of the dedication of the monument at Old Crossing memorial park at Huot, west of Red Lake Falls, will be celebrated next Sunday, with a picnic and afternoon program sponsored by the Polk County Historical society and the Red Lake Falls Commercial club. Mrs. H. Holte of Crookston will present a pageant depicting Indian life. Musical numbers also will be present."

From the Editorial Page

"People keep telling us that what our town needs is some additional payrolls. We should have some kind of a factory here, they tell us, that will provide work for people. We of course are not opposed to bigger and better payrolls but we sometimes wonder if those who talk that way understand that larger payrolls do not necessarily mean less unemployment. As a rule the larger the community the more difficult is its employment problem. A city does not necessarily grow better merely because it grows bigger. At the present time Thief River Falls is in good balance with the territory it serves, providing a good market for the people of this territory. We have a surprisingly large number of small payrolls here, substantial businesses that provide steady employment the year around. Those are the kind of payrolls that should be encouraged. Ten employers who give work to fifteen men each are better for a community than one employer who hires a couple of hundred because the ten provide greater stability."

Topics of The Times

Reprinted Columns by Norman A. Holen, former Times Editor

—What with the recent unfavorable weather and quackgrass and other weeds to combat, Victory gardeners these days are in the frontline trenches.

—This town has one thing to be thankful for. The zoot suiters haven't yet made their appearance here.

—It is suggested that the sale of war bonds might be stimulated if a rumor were put into circulation to the effect that they are to be rationed.

—The Wahpeton, N.D., editor tells the story about the sailor who, when asked what he did with all his money, replied, "Some of it went for liquor and some on women, and the rest I spent foolishly."

—The president might as well order the furling of the American flags flying over the nation's coal mines.

—A new gas saving device has been discovered. Telephone users are being asked to cut short their conversations.

—With the acute shortage of help in every business place, the matter of a summer vacation becomes an academic question.

—The U.S. Treasury suffered a staggering blow last week when the subsidy payment plan was applied to butter and meat. And that's only a start.

—Laundries, we hear, are finding help a pressing problem. Anyway, an ironing problem.

—One bumper crop that may be expected to result from the kind of weather we have been having is mosquitoes.

—Better map a big program for next Monday, it's the longest day of the year.

—There are still a lot of men out of work, opines Billy Noonan, including many with jobs in Washington.

—The fact that you aren't using your car as much as formerly won't cut one cent from the $5 fee you will have to pay before July 1 for your new automobile use stamp.

County Division

"County division schemes are still on the brew. East Grand Forks seems to have been struck bad, very bad. For the past ten years, East Grand Forks has been a heavy burden on the taxpayers of Polk County but at the last term of court her gamblers and other law breakers contributed over $1,500 to the county, and now she wants to leave."

Invitation to Export workshop set for July 21

Minnesota Trade Office will offer "Invitation to Export" a half day seminar designed for small and medium sized companies interested in expanding into international markets. The program will be held at the Northwest Technical College located at 1301 Highway 1 East in Thief River Falls Wednesday, July 21, from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

The seminar is tailored for small business and medium tailored business owners as well as economic development and small business advisers seeking knowledge regarding the global economy and export information. It will provide information on why a company should consider exporting, a brief overview on product evaluation, market research, market entry methods and export financing.

During the noon luncheon, Wayne Kilea of Arctco, Inc. will discuss Arctco's export experience.

"The Invitation to Export program will give northwestern Minnesota companies an opportunity to pursue their interest in exporting to a $6.8 trillion world market," said George Crolick, executive director of the Minnesota Trade Office. "By designing our program with new-to-exporting firms in mind, we hope to raise export awareness among small and medium sized companies throughout Minnesota."

U.S. Department of Commerce figures indicate that Minnesota exports were $7.2 billion for 1992, up 12 per cent over 1991 figures. The outlook for the future is promising and northwestern Minnesota businesses should profit from future export increases.

The cost of the seminar is $25, which includes continental breakfast, lunch and materials. To register call the MTO Events Hotline at (612) 297-4265.

Co-sponsors for the seminar include Northwest Technical College, Red River Trade Corridor and the Small Business Development Center, Thief River Falls.

The Minnesota Trade Office, a division of the Minnesota Department of Trade and Economic Development, offers counseling, education, training, finance and networking assistance services for new-to-exporting businesses and experienced exporters.

Sixth graders tell of Twin Cities trip

A group of sixth grade students recently took a Minnesota History Tour of the Twin Cities. They visited places including Fort Snelling, the Ramsey House, James J. Hill House, Science Museum/Omni Theater, Capitol Building, Lindbergh house and museum, and the Kelly Farm.

Marilyn Adams' sixth grade communication class members selected one place that really impressed them on the tour and wrote about it.

Kristine Koop was impressed with the chandelier and number of steps in the Minnesota capitol. "I think what really stuck with me was that the capitol is still functioning today. I wonder what it's like to work in the capitol," Koop said.

Aaron Sorvig pointed out the capitol's granite, marble and pipestone construction materials. "I like this capitol building because of its uniqueness, its structure and all of the history it contains," Sorvig said.

Jeff Rislov admired the gold horses on top of the capitol. Rislov also observed the House of Representatives in progress. "Then we went to a place where many people below were running around and talking. They were there to make laws that help our state," Rislov said.

The students also visited Fort Snelling. Justin Disterhaupt observed the fort defenses such as cannons and its location on a bluff overlooking the river. "I could never live back then," Disterhaupt said. "I still don't see why people call it the good ol' days."

Becky Wegner wrote that she enjoyed the "really neat-looking jail" and the towers. "I really thought the Round Tower was neat because they (soldiers) would be able to see if the settlers were going down the Minnesota River or the Mississippi River trying to settle by Fort Snelling," Wegner said.

Many of the students wrote that the Science Museum and Omni Theater were their favorite tour stops.

Hayden Goethe pointed out interactive exhibits. "You were also able to touch almost anything. Another thing I liked was a voice machine that would show you how loud you talk. I also had a chance to ride a bike that produces electricity," Goethe said.

"When we went to the science museum I felt like I was a scientist," writes Brandon Jorgenson. "I felt like I was in front of a bunch of science experiments or test tubes. I would have to figure out how and if they worked."

"I liked the Science Museum because I liked trying the new experiments. It was important to me because I might want to become a scientist when I grow up," writes Adam Stusynski.

Derek Berg writes that he liked the interactive exhibits. "On the second floor there were arrowheads and other neat exhibits. The best was a skeleton," Berg said.

Darin Bjerkness enjoyed the interactive exhibits. "The first thing I saw at the museum was the tornado. It was cool!"

The Omni Theater impressed some students. "The clock counts five, four, three, two, one, BLAST OFF! The shuttle shoots toward the sky with me in it. I'm not really in the shuttle. I'm in the Omni Theater," writes Andy Janisch, describing the space-themed movie.

Erin Delmore also pointed out the life-like Omni Theater experience. "When it first took off the theater was vibrating from the noise it made. Pretty soon we were in space looking at the earth's mountain ranges. Next we landed, it felt like you could feel the pressure," Delmore writes.

"We were coming in for a landing. It looked like we were going to crash...I felt like my life was going to flash before my eyes. Then we landed," writes John Wilkenson.

"There was a part in the movie when they shot a missile at a net. It came right at the screen in 3D that was the best part," writes Eddie Swantek.

"I enjoy freaky things. I like roller coasters, scary movies and freaky situations. That's why I loved the Omni Theater," writes Kelli Muzzy.

The James J. Hill mansion in St. Paul was also on the tour. "The carvings were so elegant that they looked like brown lace....The wife and husband each had a huge walk-in closets the size of my bathroom. Even the children's rooms were big," writes Bridgette Stock.

Bethany Nelson pointed out the 32 rooms, 13 bathrooms and 22 fire places in the house. "As I toured through the house I realized that back in that time a person's image was everything," Nelson writes.

"It was hard to believe that it was just a house and not a hotel or apartment building. You could almost get lost in such a place," writes Kyle Udenberg.

"The pipe organ was two stories high and probably had a thousand pipes or so....It felt as if there was a secret door or something in the house," writes T. Jay Wojieckowski.

The students also visited the Ramsey House, home of Minnesota's first territorial governor. "The playroom was like an attic. They had a huge doll house. It was built to look like their house," writes Andrea Olson.

"I would die in a kitchen like theirs. No electric fridge, no ovens or microwaves! Just an old ice box and a black wood stove. Most other families didn't even have running water!" writes Jessica Olson.

"And when I stepped in, I stepped into a whole other world. It was beautiful. It seemed that I actually lived there, because all of the stuff that was in there made it seem like somebody was still living there," writes Andrea Stinson of the Ramsey House.

"I once tried imagining what it would be like to live in a house like that. I imagine I'd like it. Having a special room set aside for everything would be dreamy," writes Leah Kenner.

"As I walked in, I felt like I was a visitor at the Ramsey House. I left my calling card and was invited into the guest room. I learned we were not allowed to gossip so they had ostrich eggs and animal teeth to help start conversations," writes Jessica Nelson.

The tour group also visited the pioneer Kelly farm.

"The Kelly house was really pretty because of all the antique furniture. There was a sewing machine in one room that was the size of a stapler... Many people didn't have a sewing machine because it cost about as much as two oxen.," writes Nicole Kopari.

" There was also the barn. After our tour guide talked a little about the barn, he took us to shovel manure. It was gross! It must have been sitting there for days. It was dry and very heavy to lift up into the wagon," writes K.H.

"I liked the Kelly Farm the best because we got to plow with two oxen like they did a long time ago. We stood in a line and walked in a path and plowed," writes Stacy Hovet.

The tour stopped at the Lindbergh House and Museum. "It was fascinating to see all the toys Charles had when he was a boy, and it fascinates me to know that he flew across the Atlantic Ocean by himself," writes Derek Ptacek.

"When I saw the other houses (Ramsey, Hill) you could see that Charles Lindbergh wasn't anything like the Ramsey and Hill kids. He had more fun, he had more responsibilities, and he didn't have much money so he didn't have a big house. He did some of the stuff we do today like baseball, skating and also collecting stuff," writes Robbie Bakken.

Some vitamins pose danger to children

Vitamins and other products containing iron result in more deaths in children than any other ingested poison, according to doctors at the Minnesota Regional Poison center in St. Paul.

"Of the 44 children who died of poisoning in 1991, 11 died of iron poisoning," stated Dr. Sam Hall, director of the poison center. "Most people just don't realize how dangerous products containing iron can be to their children."

According to Dr. Hall, adult strength iron tablets and multivitamins pose the greatest risk to children. Fifteen to 20 adult strength tablets can kill a child in a matter of hours. He recommends that parents store iron-containing products out of the reach of children and promptly discard any iron supplements that are no longer needed.

Alice Wain recently returned from a trip to Eastern Europe. Wain was among early childhood education professionals chosen to participate in a 16-day tour of Russia, Hungary, and Czechoslovakia. The trip was sponsored by the Citizen Ambassador Program People to People International. She is pictured above with some of the gifts she obtained while on the trip.

Alice Waine draws lessons in education from Russia

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Eye opening is one way to describe Alice Wain's experience in Russia as part of a group of educators exchanging information and experience with early childhood and special education instructors in Russia.

The first shock came with an invitation to join the group from two organizations — one of which she had never heard from. Alice Wain, who lives in Fosston but who will teach two sessions for Early Childhood Family Education (ECFE), and a library story time in Thief River Falls this summer, explained that the invitations came last November. One came from the University of Alabama and the other from Citizen Ambassador Program of People to People International, a group she had never heard of before.

Both invitations to travel to Russia, Hungary and Czechoslovakia said that because of her expertise and experience she had been chosen as one of 25 delegates or ambassadors. First thing she did was go to Heidi Hoks at the public library to confirm that this agency was legitimate. Then she told them it must be a mistake. But, they said she had been recommended by someone and it was no mistake. Alice now thinks the recommendation came from someone in the Minneapolis school district where she used to teach. Wain learned that many of the others in her group had the same experience and had responded similarly.

Not all who were chosen were teachers. Some were very well-known in the field of early childhood education or special education. Some were faculty from universities. Some were considered pioneers in specific areas. Their group eventually expanded to include 30, who came from 24 states and four Canadian provinces.

This group was responsible for sharing law and policies pertaining to early childhood special education in the United States and Canada, to demonstrate the various ways these have been put into practice across the United States, and to discuss specific aspects of training programs for those professionals working with special needs children ages birth to age 6. The group also emphasized how their work interfaces with that of medical, social and other agencies.

It was a very interesting trip, much of which was paid for by the sponsoring organization. They stayed in nice motels and most of their meals and other expenses were paid, she said.

The purpose of their good will exchange was to foster goodwill and understanding in education and other specific areas in education. They went to meetings and seminars and visited educational facilities. In all cases, Wain said, they went to top educational agencies as they now exist. It provided an interesting insight into their education process as well as the changes taking place in eastern Europe.

Many changes have taken place since communism collapsed. Wain explained that everywhere they went people referred to the collapse as a "revolution" so that they referred to everything in terms of Vocal music has been a big part of the school and community life of Mya Gunderson for a number of years and she has been an active participant in contests and competition.

Mya, 18, is a 1993 graduate of the Heritage Christian School at Karlstad and the daughter of Vern and Peggy Gunderson of Newfolden. Her mother, the former Peggy Wilcox of Newfolden, was a contestant in the Miss Thief River Falls pageant 25 years ago. Mya is five feet six and one-half inches tall with brown hair and brown eyes. Her talent presentation will be a vocal solo.

Recently starting to train with a professional voice instructor, she has sung for five years with a competitive choir, three years with the Heritage quartet and for a number of years as a soloist.

She has received 10 superior ratings in Free Church Youth Fellowship area competitions and 10 superior ratings at FCYF district competitions, singing with the high school choir, Heritage Quartet, duets and solos. She has also received eight first places at area fine arts festivals, two fourth, three third and five gold medals at the school's state competition.

A member of the FCYF for six years, she has also sung occasionally on the "Trumpet of Truth" radio broadcast. She has taught vacation Bible school for three years, worked as a waitress in a small cafe and for the past year and a half has worked as a certified nursing assistant at the Karlstad Nursing Center.

259 tested as possible bone marrow donors

Turn-out was above expectations Monday for persons having blood tested to serve as possible bone marrow donors for Julia Baron, two and one-half year old daughter of Jim and Sharon Baron of Thief River Falls. Julia has leukemia and the bone marrow transplant is considered her best chance for survival.

Two hundred and fifty-nine potential donors had blood samples drawn from noon to 7 p.m. at the Franklin middle school gymnasium, according to Diane Lehrer, who was coordinating arrangements through Branch 8129 of Lutheran Brotherhood which is providing some cost-matching funds.

Mrs. Lehrer said the payments made by donors, other donations received, matching funds and participation by the National Registry of Donors appear to be sufficient to cover costs of the drive. No one was turned away because of inability to pay the $45 fee involved with the testing, she said, and nearly all of the donors agreed to be placed on the National Registry as potential donors.

United Blood Services of Fargo, ND, assisted with the campaign with the cooperation of the local medical center and clinic. Officials from UBS and its parent organization in Arizona were amazed at the turn-out. Typical turn-out nationally is about 65 people, they said. This was the first such drive involving the Fargo area.

Several weeks will be involved before it is known if there is a likelihood of a better match among the people donating blood samples Monday than has been found among the people on the National Registry.

Julia is tentatively scheduled to begin preparation for the transplant procedure in July. This will involve chemo and/or radiation therapy to destroy her own bone marrow in preparation to receive the donor marrow.

While Janetta Braaten of Thief River Falls fills out an information form to donate blood at the bone marrow clinic for Julia Baron Monday at the Franklin middle school gymnasium, her 10-month-old daughter Trishia seems willing to help. Janetta was one of 259 people who turned out to have blood tested in an effort to find a bone marrow match for two and one-half year old Julia, daughter of Jim and Sharon Baron, who has been diagnosed with leukemia.

Vernon Lee (left) of Thief River Falls was elected and installed as Ninth District American Legion Commander last weekend at the district convention held in Barnesville. Jerry Odegaard, also of Thief River Falls, will serve as his adjutant for the coming year.

Governor and House Minority Leader to visit

Gov. Arne Carlson and House Minority Leader Steve Sviggum of Kenyon in southeastern Minnesota will be in Thief River Falls Thursday, June 24, to participate in a soup and sandwich bar luncheon at the Best Western Inn from noon to 1 p.m.

The event is open to any interested persons and the luncheon cost of $5.47 includes beverage. Persons planning to attend are asked to call the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce at 681-3720 by Wednesday, June 23, so an approximate count for meal planning can be made.

Jerry Kopplin, media director for Rep. Sviggum, said that the Governor and Minority Leader have both been traveling extensively throughout the state to discuss the past legislative session, the budget and what to look for in the November state financial forecast.

It is not coincidental to the scheduled visit here that a special election has been called by the Governor for July 13 in House District 1B to elect a successor for Rep. Wally Sparby. Kopplin said that Rev. Sviggum has been especially active in reaching out to any area of the state where there is a special election in an effort to strengthen the minority IR party's position in the legislature. He was also present at the District 1B IR endorsing convention at which Tim Finseth of Warren was selected as the party's legislative candidate.

The Independent Republicans now have 48 seats in the House. Over the past several years there have been 14 special elections and the IR party candidate has won in 13 of those, losing only in a heavily DFL district in St. Paul.

Kopplin said that both Rep. Sviggum and Gov. Carlson were adamant during the legislative session that the state should not adopt new taxes and keep spending within its means. He said the $16.8 million budget adopted represents a 10.2 per cent or $1.6 billion increase over the next two years.

Annette's Fabrics requests pre-registration with fees paid at the that time. Fabrics and notions should be picked up prior to classtime. Preshrink fabric prior to class time. A small personal sewing box with pins, tape measure, hem gauge, pin cushion and scissors would be handy. Be sure to label it with your name. Students may bring their own sewing machines to sew with or may use one of Annette's Fabrics' sewing machines.

Dear Readers,
Death is an inevitable part of life. The emotional well-being of survivors depends on accepting the death, not on denial. That is why funerals and visitation are so important. They make the point that death has occurred. It is a fact.

Hurry, Hurry, Before It's Gone

Maybe it's because we live in the north country, where [illegible] seem to be so slow in coming and quick to leave and [illegible] are so doggone long, but have you noticed how everyone seems to be hurrying and hustling to enjoy the summer season.

Some people leave work early on Fridays to get a head start on the weekend so they can have more time to spend doing summer [illegible]. Hurry, hurry to enjoy it.

Some people spend weekends at their lake cottage. They drive two or three hours to get to the lake, then spend the entire weekend doing stuff.

The first few weekends are spent dragging all of the supplies out and cleaning up the cottage, cutting and trimming the lawn and hauling up the boat and other assorted water toys and fishing gear, all the better to enjoy the summer.

Later summer weekends are spent fishing, getting up at 5 or 6, piling all of the gear in the boat, including jackets and sweat pants for the cold mornings and swimming trunks for the hot afternoons, tackle, poles, food and drink, and spending the entire day putzing around to get the boat where it should go, baiting hooks, casting, reeling and maybe, if the person is lucky, netting a fish or two. Is this really relaxing?

Even those people who don't own cottages at the lake spend their summer weekends fishing. They are the ones who have to get the boat hooked to their vehicle and load up all of their supplies the night before so they can enjoy a day at the lake. They are the ones who return home at midnight, worn to a frazzle and burned to a crisp. You will see them unloading the boat and supplies some time Sunday afternoon. And there went another summer weekend!

Those lucky people who own lake cottages often have the pleasure of the company of friends and relatives visiting. This company is usually uninvited and unexpected. Sometimes the company is unwelcome, but that is another story.

Weekends when unexpected guests drop by are spent cooking three meals a day, washing, drying and putting away copious amounts of dishes and leftover food, buying more food, straightening up the mess in the cottage whenever everyone finally gets out of it for a minute or two, and washing towels, swimming trunks, bedding and other people's clothes.

Often in the summertime, people rush to beautify their lawns and plant gardens. Hurry, hurry, get it in so the flowers can start to grow and be beautiful and the vegetables can be productive. (Never mind that once the flowers start to grow they will have to be watered, weeded, plucked and hoed every so often. Never mind that once the vegetables are growing they will have to be watered, weeded and hoed, too, not to mention picking and preparing them for eating and/or canning or freezing.)

Often people enjoy summer by going camping. Camping entails lots of preparation of things, like tents or campers, lanterns, sleeping bags, camp stoves, food, clothing for various temperatures, and other assorted items, all the better to enjoy the camping trip.

Once the camp is set up and settled, the rush begins again. Hurry, hurry to enjoy the camping trip. See as much as possible, traipse from one place to another, swim, sun bathe, hike, pick berries and flowers, look at the scenery and, of course, do some fishing. Hurry, hurry to enjoy it.

People seem to be in a rush to do everything in the summer. They hurry places to play summer games, like golf and tennis. They hurry to go on a picnic or to a park. They hurry to get out to sun bathe or swim, and even hurry and scurry around to have a barbecue in the back yard.

They hurry to have fun going places. They hurry off to home town carnivals and street dances, and hurry off to far away amusement parks and recreation areas. They hurry to take vacations to far away places or to visit friends and relatives.

What with all that hurrying and scurrying around to enjoy it, is it any wonder that we will stop some fall day and wonder what happened to the summer?

Whatever happened to summer days spent in a hammock with a glass of lemonade and a good book? Whatever happened to slow walks around the block and maybe a trek down the street for an ice cream cone? Whatever happened to sitting on a park bench watching the water wiggle and ripple on a summer day? Whatever happened to those good old lazy summer days?

IMPRESSIONS

Beth Johnson

Monday morning at 4 o'clock, summer arrived! Did you happen to notice its coming? In retrospect, I guess I was groggily aware that it was gaining on morning around 4 Monday morning, but I didn't have my senses awakened to the possibility of summer. But, whether any of us actually knew it or not, summer did sneak up on us this week. Aren't you glad summer has finally arrived?

Just last week, as I was taking my walk, I felt that my walk would be more comfortable if I had my earmuffs along for my ears! But, as it truly was June, earmuffs just weren't a pleasant thought! They should be reserved for colder days, not a day in June! Now, though, with the arrival of summer has finally come some warmer temperatures. Instead of the furnace, we are running fans in several of our windows. Our thermometer on our tree in our backyard actually read 90 degrees—that's 90 degrees above zero! Six months ago we probably had forgotten how nice and warm a summer day could feel—just as now, we have forgotten for a time how truly cold a Northwestern Minnesota winter can be.

But, now that summer has replaced winter, think of the possibilities of summer. Summer is a time when we try to enjoy the out of doors as much as possible. In just a few short months, we will once again be in our hibernation mode for winter. But, now it is summer. How will you be using these days given to us to enjoy?

I remember summers of my youth. Those summers are now but memories, but what wonderful memories they are. My parents and the three of us children camped for several weeks every summer during my growing up days. My father was a minister. In order to be able to take a vacation we had to vacate the place where we were living so that we could truly get a vacation away from the telephone and the myraid needs of the people of the church. So, we camped. We had our favorite campgrounds and even our favorite spots in particular campgrounds. We ate hot dogs roasted over the campfire. We hunted for Petosky stones. We walked the shores of the Great Lakes. We swam in their refreshingly cold waters. We fished. We talked. We children were even trying at times!!! When we returned home, we felt refreshed and glad to be home. We brought our memories of our time together home with us. Memories which have lasted for years.

Summer is the time for families to spend some time with one another. You don't have to go camping to spend time with each other, but you can leave the phone at home, or let the answering machine take care of your calls for a bit. Spend uninterrupted time with each other. It may be simply taking a walk together, or going fishing together. It may be as simple as sitting for a while in your yard and watching nature together.

Summer is usually the time when family reunions are held. Is your family getting together this summer? Are you going to be there? Spend some time creating memories for the younger generations of your family by sharing memories of stories of years gone past. Those memories of times gone by will help tie the generations of your family to one another.

Summer for the farmer and his family is not necessarily a time for fun and games. It is a time of serious work upon which the year's livelihood is dependent. Farmers must be particularly glad that summer has finally arrived here. We have had moisture, but we lacked heat to help the crops grow. Summer with warmer temperatures has arrived. Farmers will be pleased, and grateful. Memories of good times and not so good times will be created by the farm families for this year as they work together. But, in spite of the hard work, take some time each day to notice the beauty of the world in which you work. The beauty of a summer day will be a wonderful memory when winter once again descends upon us.

Summertime is a time of easier living. It's a time when we don't need to feel guilty if we stop for a while and notice the world around us. It's a time when we usually try to spend more time together as families. Are you creating memories for your children this summer? Are you creating memories for yourself this summer? Summertime is when new memories can be created. Spend time with one another, working and listening and playing and resting, and as you spend time with each other, memories will be created that will last a lifetime. Make those memories the kind you want to cherish.

Evidence in gambling case is suppressed

The [illegible] [illegible] against the Wagon Wheel of Middle River may be dropped. Prosecutor Mike Williams, Marshall County attorney, said [illegible] suppressing evidence [illegible] a search warrant has been [illegible].

The Wagon Wheel was being prosecuted for alleged illegal gaming activity. The charge stemmed from an incident last January in which an officer for the Gaming Control Board law enforcement division allegedly observed illegal gaming activity at the restaurant and then a search warrant was executed. Williams said there was no problem with the way in which the search warrant was issued. Ninth District Judge Dennis Murphy ruled that the state had failed to file the search warrant with the court administrator in a timely manner. Evidence seized in the execution of the warrant, therefore, has been suppress and cannot be used in the trial.

Williams said it does not look very good for the state. He said he will make a final decision about whether he intends to pursue criminal charges this week.

The Lawful Gambling Control board did suspend the permit to conduct charitable gambling at the site. Nan Connor of the Lawful Gambling Control board said they did not suspend the license of the charitable organization but the permit of the Wagon Wheel to conduct lawful gambling at the site. The suspension was executed on March 5, 1993 and is in effect until March 4, 1994. Connor said the Judges' decision in this criminal matter will not have an affect on the suspension, which is civil matter.

TIMES FOR TODDLERS

ACTIVITIES

A Sun Hat

The sun is getting warm, and every child should have a special sun hat. It is easy to create one with masking tape and a piece of newspaper.

Tear the newspaper into half sheets. You will need four of these pieces. Center the newspaper on the child's head so that the center is at the crown. Tape the hat around the band with tape. You should make about four rounds around the child's head to be sure it will fit and be secure. Now roll the edges of the newspaper up tight around the band to form the brim.

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need a large sheet of paper, paint, tape and sponges.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through their new selection of children's books including the following:

Ernst, Lisa Campbell. Miss Penny and Mr. Grubbs. Miss Penny walked off with county fair ribbons for her beautiful garden vegetables and her neighbor, Mr. Grubbs, was most envious. He planned revenge by sending uninvited "guests" to Miss Penny's backyard but his scheme had a fatal flaw.

Rylant, Cynthia. Henry and Mudge and the Long Weekend. Henry and his big dog Mudge are bored, bored, bored when the weekend turns cold and wet and they must stay inside. Then Henry's mother has a wonderful idea...

VIDEO VARIETY

Dinosaurs and Monsters. Mister Rogers helps young children understand what scary monsters are, and aren't, all about. He explores the worlds of real and make-believe.

PARENTING TIPS

Playing Outside

Playing out in the yard puts a child closer to the danger of the streets, as well as other dangers that can exist. As a parent you must decide when your child is ready for this. There is no one age at which all children are ready to play alone outside. You must know your own child!

To begin, set specific limits for a small area which has clearly recognized boundaries such as between two sidewalks or draw limits on the sidewalk with chalk, or put a string on the ground. Young child need a boundary they can actually see. Take your child and walk around the boundary explaining and showing what the limits are. Do not just tell or point from across the yard.

When your child begins to play within these limits, watch (without being seen) to see how he/she is reacting to the freedom and limits. At first check every few minutes. If your child does not stay within the clear limits, matter-of-factly remove him to the house and say he can try again later or another day.

Until your child demonstrates the ability to play within the boundaries you set, continue to supervise his play. When he shows that he can and will stay in a small area, try expanding the limits gradually. Each time show him clearly the new limits and observe to be sure he understands. This means you must be actively involved when teaching your child new boundaries rather than merely deciding that he is able to play outside.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Remember that talking about new limits means that we parents need to be aware of what our child actually understands. We need to show him what we are talking about and watch and listen to see if he really understands.

Alice Waine draws lessons in education from Russia

"since the revolution", which occurred a year or two ago.

In Russia and probably the other countries, as well, the accepted philosophy before the "revolution" was that there is no child who cannot learn." If there was a child who did not learn, it was the teacher's fault. Combine the philosophy with a very rigid curriculum in which every teacher had the same teaching materials, lesson plans, and political dogma to follow, and the result was that a student who failed to keep up for one reason or another, was defined by the teacher as a "special needs child".

Obviously then, their definition of special needs was much broader than what the professionals from the United States were used to dealing with.

The "revolution" has changed everything. The rigid structure with its lesson plans and specific teaching materials, its dogma and possibly its philosophy, has changed. Teachers, Wain said, are really struggling with a massive retraining problem, and few materials. The newly empowered are also struggling with just how much to control.

Even though the "revolution" has created many problems, Wain said she remained impressed by some of the things she observed.

Wain observed that the parent/child relationship is considered extremely important. Daycare for children ages 1 to 3 is, for all intents and purposes, non-existent. When Wain refers to parent she means mother/child relationship primarily. That relationship is seen as so important that, for example, mothers are expected to stay with their children until the age of three and were paid by the state to do so. If the mother had another child after three years she would be paid to stay with the child another three years. Her work for the three years was parenting. Wain believes this could be a carry-over from the Central Party dictates, but it could also be a deeply ingrained belief from culture. Their early childhood programs have been in existence for about 90 years — way ahead of the programs in the United States. In any event, the new governments in the three countries are struggling to maintain that system. It is a terrible economic strain, however.

Wain also observed that elementary schools, which involve eight divisions or up to the eighth grade, run from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. Instruction takes place from 6 a.m. until 1 or 1:30 p.m. The rest of the afternoon is divided into sports, arts, clubs and what we would describe as extra-curricular activities.

The instructional activities that take place in the mornings for the first four grades, however, is not what Americans typically define as "schoolish" or instructional. There appeared to be very little paper work. Wain said instead, they saw a lot of learning by experimenting, or play learning. The focus of this learning was on the basics or reading, writing and arithmetic. As they would say, Wain said, they did not "pollute" curriculum with science, foreign languages and other learning skills.

While Wain was impressed by their early childhood education she noted that they were, as far as the Americans were concerned, behind in special needs programs and work with the family/child relationship, ages 0 to 3.

Although understanding translations from a different language is difficult, Wain believes that while Americans, and possibly Western countries, challenge special needs children because they cannot accept a premise that a child cannot learn new skills, the eastern European countries that she visited, seemed perfectly willing to "accept" them without the stigma or need to encourage them to learn more.

There is very little "mainstreaming" of special needs children. Most are grouped together in boarding homes. Wain said they saw very few extremely handicapped individuals. They also did not see physically handicapped such as paraplegics or quadriplegic children. It indicated to Wain that quite possibly the educational system was not working with these children. She theorized that the medical community might be more responsible for their needs.

They did see a school for the deaf and that experience was at odds with what they perceived as a very "accepting" attitude for handicapped individuals. For example, the deaf students were not allowed to sign. Signing was not taught. The deaf students learned to speak, and express themselves — even sing as the rest of the population. The school and educators operate on the premise that it's a hearing and speaking world and they have to get along in that world. Wain said she found the abilities of the students amazing. She found the philosophy of general "acceptance" at odds with their attitude towards special needs children.

Wain had another interesting observation about education in these countries. Some of the schools are becoming privatized, but privatized has a different definition than the one we're used to. The school is out of the control of the government in many ways, but in the privatized situation, the school receives funds from industry and other sources, and it also receives state funds.

"I gained insight into the social, cultural, political and economic structures and challenges of these nations, and gained an immense respect for what they have accomplished in education in the past — for what they have lived through and for the changes they dare endeavor," said Wain.

Gunderson candidate for Miss TRF

Mya said her goal is to work with handicapped children, make them smile and make a difference in their lives. She will attend the nursing program of Northland Community College in Thief River Falls this fall, take classes in voice and minor in music.

She has enjoyed traveling to many different states with her family and with school groups as well as family skiing and snowmobiling trips. Her father is a farmer and fire chief and her mother is employed at Arctco, Inc. She has one brother, Shannon, age 22.

When her family hosted a visitor from South Africa for two weeks, Mya was interested in learning more about that country and its people.

At the Heritage Christian school she was a member of the varsity volleyball team and manager for the girls' basketball team.

Mya lists her hobbies as traveling, singing, running, spending time with friends, snowmobiling, skiing, swimming and spending time with the elderly.

"During the last political campaign the term 'family values' was constantly brought up," Mya said. "I feel true family values are important. I feel strong morals, a united family and a supportive community are more important than ever, and I hope I can convey this belief to others."

Highway 59 construction project gets underway

Construction began Monday on the Highway 59 improvement project from the Canadian border to highway 175 south of Lancaster, according to Bernie Stinson, project supervisor for the Minnesota Department of Transportation.

Bituminous overlay and aggregate shouldering is planned for the 18-mile stretch of highway at a cost of $1,150,000. Anderson Brothers Construction company of Brainerd is the contractor.

During paving operations, one lane of traffic will be closed and traffic will alternate using the remaining lane behind a pilot car or following directions of a flag person. Some delays and restrictions on oversize equipment on the road during construction are expected as the project progresses.

Drivers are reminded to look for the orange "Road Work Ahead" signs and reduce speed when approaching the highway construction areas.

Correction:

An accident report in the last edition of The Times placed the vehicles and owners of the vehicles in the opposite order. The story should have read that a parked vehicle that had been driven by Roxanne Chute was struck by a van driven by Karen Jean Bauer. The accident happened on Hughes near Knox elementary on June 9. The Times regrets the error.

Sobriety check nets offenders

Law enforcement officials conducted a sobriety check point on Highway 32 in Thief River Falls on Saturday. Law enforcement officials are saying that the check point was a success.

In all, 538 vehicles were inspected at the checkpoint by law enforcement officials from the Minnesota State Patrol, Pennington County Sheriff's department, and Thief River Falls police department. It also resulted in six charges of driving while intoxicated, 10 open bottle citations, seven consumption under age citations, one driving after cancellation and one citation for no proof of insurance.

"Reports from my officers," said Police Chief Ken Froschheiser, "are that everybody was real cooperative."

Law enforcement officials in and around Thief River Falls only recently began using sobriety checkpoints as a tool for enforcing the law and keeping drunk drivers off the road. Law enforcement officials in the community conducted a checkpoint last summer, and a snowmobile checkpoint in the winter.

Police Chief Froschheiser explained that a federal grant to the Minnesota State Patrol makes it possible to conduct sobriety checkpoints. The time and date for the sobriety checkpoints are coordinated through the State Patrol with local agencies. The checkpoints are also manned by representatives of each department participating in the checkpoint.

Chief Froschheiser said he doesn't expect another checkpoint to be conducted this summer, at least not at this time.

The laws on driving while intoxicated have gotten stringent in the past few years, Chief Froschheiser commented. He added that he believes that it will get even more stringent. There has been talk, he said, of lowering the blood alcohol content limit.

Lt. Charles Jones of the State Patrol in Thief River Falls said he though the checkpoint went very well. He said he didn't hear any negative comments. He did hear a lot of positive comments.

Lt. Jones said the purpose of the checkpoint is not to eliminate drinking and driving. Lt. Jones said law enforcement do want to curtail drinking too much and then driving.

Lt. Jones was a little more optimistic about holding another checkpoint in the future, but he would only say that it will be held in the near future.

DOT to work on safety at Soo crossings

Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) has started a $380,000 safety improvement project involving 278 railroad crossings along the Soo Line railroad from Glenwood in Pope county to the Canadian border on the north edge of Kittson county.

Work began Monday and is expected to be completed by September. The project includes railroad crossings along 266 miles of Soo Line track in Pope, Douglas, Ottertail, Becker, Mahnomen, Polk, Red Lake, Pennington, Marshall and Kittson counties.

Involved will be the installation of brighter advance warning signs and long-lasting pavement markings on paved roads, which make the crossings more visible at night, according to Joe McKinnon, project engineer from the Mn/DOT Northwest District office in Bemidji.

In addition, a highly reflectorized material will be attached to the back of crossbuck signs and posts to create a strobe effect when vehicle lights reflect off the reflectorized signs as trains move through the crossing at night.

Prime contractor on the project is H & R Construction company of Dalton.

By carrying out these and other safety initiatives, Mn/DOT hopes to reduce railroad-highway crossing accidents to 50 per cent by the year 2000. In 1991, Minnesota had 129 railroad grade crossing accidents resulting in 29 injuries and 10 deaths, McKinnon said.

Legion sweeps Moorhead

Defense of its Ninth District American Legion baseball title will not occur until Aug. 5-7 in East Grand Forks, but Thief River Falls early season success indicates Post 117 will be looking to make a second straight state tournament berth when post season play rolls around.

A 13-3, 9-4 doubleheader sweep over perennial Ninth District power Moorhead Friday, coupled with a title winning effort in their own Thief River Falls Invitational the previous weekend, gave Post 117 a 5-0 season start.

"It's always nice to beat Moorhead," noted Thief River Falls head coach Howard Dalager. "The kids were focused. They're anxious to prove themselves."

Thief River Falls won back-to-back Ninth District titles in 1954 and 1955, then had to wait until 1992 before picking up a third crown. Post 117, featuring most of the players off the 1993 North Sub-Section 8AA champion Lincoln High School ball club, will now try to duplicate the back-to-back Legion championship pattern this summer.

"These kids like to play baseball," pointed out Dalager. "They've been together a long time. This is their last year to play together, and I think it's important to them to go out on a good note."

Down 2-1 after 3 1/2 innings Thief River Falls put together a seven run fourth and went on to stun the visiting Blues 13-3 in the first half of the Friday twinbill at Irv Wilson Field.

Singles by Steve Burslie and Jeremy Olson plated the tying and go ahead runs, respectively, then a three run home run by Jason Svir broke it open.

It was 9-3 heading into the bottom of the sixth when three hits, two walks, a hit batsman, and an error added up to four more Thief River Falls runs and an early 10-run rule ending.

Svir was 4-for-4 with four RBI. Burslie went 3-for-4 with a pair of doubles and three RBI, while Carter Rogalla had a triple and a single in four at-bats in the 13-hit Thief River Falls attack.

Moorhead mustered only five hits off Thief River Falls pitcher Marc Haugen, who struck out three and walked two in a complete-game effort.

Five Thief River Falls batters had two hits apiece. Rick Ostby and Steve Burslie both homered and Post 117 completed the sweep with a 9-4 second game decision.

Thief River Falls faced another early deficit, but wiped out a 4-2 Moorhead lead with a four-run third – highlighted by a three-run home run by Ostby.

A two-run homer by Burslie helped open up a 9-4 fifth inning gap.

Ostby, Nathan Knutson and Carter Rogalla were all 2-for-3, while Marc Haugen and Jason Svir both went 2-for-4 as Thief River Falls out-hit Moorhead 14-10.

Six innings of seven-hit ball gave the win to Ostby, who struck out one and did not walk a batter. Rogalla pitched the seventh.

The 36 players who took part in the event were selected from the 12 Minnesota Amateur Hockey Association districts throughout the state. The daily schedule included two ice time sessions, classroom work and a variety of training activities. The round-robin series of games led to the playoff finals on the final day of camp. # Fertile takes two from TRF VFW ball club

Thief River Falls VFW 16-year-olds came up with just three hits in the opener and only two in the nightcap Friday in losing a 7-2, 6-2 baseball doubleheader at Fertile.

John Elizondo was the losing pitcher in Game 1, walking four and striking out one. Cory Jenkins was the starter and Tim Harry took the loss in relief in Game 2. They combined on four walks and three strike-outs.

The Rick Looker-coached Thief River Falls 16-year-olds took a 3-3 record into a Tuesday match-up with Clearbrook-Gonvick. They host Moorhead Thursday in a 5 p.m. doubleheader at Irv Wilson Field.

TRF Legion sweeps West Fargo...

Season-opening win streak hits 7

Two relief performances by Thief River Falls pitcher Marc Haugen produced a first-game save and a second-game win Monday as Post 117 swept a 9-5, 2-1 American Legion baseball doubleheader at West Fargo.

"Haugen played well," said Thief River Falls head coach Howard Dalager. "He did a nice job in both games."

The nightcap took eight innings before Thief River Falls was able to lay claim to its seventh straight season-opening win.

|---|---|
| Thief River Falls | 9 |
| West Fargo | 5 |

Most of the offense was generated in the first inning as Thief River Falls beat West Fargo 9-5 in Game 1.

The winners used four base hits, two walks, a hit-batsman and a sacrifice fly to score five times in the top of the first, only to watch West Fargo combine three hits with two walks in the bottom of the inning to get right back in it at 5-4.

Thief River Falls won it, though, with a three-run third that included an RBI double by Steve Burslie and a suicide squeeze bunt by Joby Looker.

Burslie, Jason Svir and Marc Haugen had two hits apiece as Thief River Falls out-hit West Fargo 11-6.

Thief River Falls starting pitcher Jeremy Olson left in the fourth inning. The win went to Carter Rogalla, who worked 2 2/3 innings before giving way to Haugen.

After scoring early in the opener, Thief River Falls waited until the seventh inning of Game 2 before producing offensively – not much, but enough to net a 2-1 eight-inning win.

Down 1-0 going into the seventh, Post 117 tied it when Steve Burslie led off with a hit, stole second and scored on a two-out single by Wade Evenson.

Winning run crossed the plate in the eighth when Carter Rogalla drew a one-out walk, Nathan Knutson singled and Rick Ostby got his bat on a ball that resulted in a fielder's choice ground ball and a run when West Fargo tacked an error on to the play.

Jayson Olson pitched six strong innings for the winners, but the win went to Marc Haugen in relief.

Homeowners offered tree tips

A new easy-to-follow nine-page booklet is now available that tells homeowners where to plant trees for maximum energy savings.

The booklet, entitled "Energy Saving Landscapes: The Minnesota Homeowner's Guide," is free.

Trees shade our homes in summer and shelter us from harsh winter winds, noted Jonathan Stiegler, urban forestry coordinator for the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources. "Placement of trees is critical to energy savings," Stiegler said. "Estimates indicate that in Minnesota, strategically placed shade trees could reduce an air conditioning bill by up to 25 percent. Annual fuel bills could be reduced by up to 20 percent with a windbreak."

For more information or copies of the booklet, contact the Minnesota DNR Information Center by calling home free in Minnesota, 1-800-766-6000.

DNR News

DNR Questions/Answers

Q. How do I get information about Minnesota's fishing laws?

A. You will receive a free copy of Minnesota's fishing regulations when you purchase your fishing license.

Q. I will be vacationing in Minnesota for seven days and plan to fish each day. Am I entitled to seven limits of walleyes?

A. No. You are only allowed one limit for each species, regardless of how long you fish. Minnesota's daily and possession limits are the same. Once you have taken your six walleye, you are at your possession limit.

Walleye Stocking

Few topics of Minnesota's outdoors are the subject of more misunderstanding, confusion, and misconceptions than walleye stocking.

Department of Natural Resources officials answered some of those questions in a recent release:

Misconception No. 1 - walleyes come from hatcheries.

A mistaken belief about walleyes is that most exist because of the DNR stocking program. The fact is that of the 3.5 million walleyes caught each year, only 4 percent, or about 140,000, are the result of fish stocking. The remaining 3 million-plus are wild fish that reproduce naturally.

Misconception No. 2 - most stocked fish grow into big fish.

A widely held assumption is that most stocked walleyes grow up to be caught by anglers. But in truth, only a fraction of stocked fish survive a few years in a lake. Under the best of conditions, only 12.5 percent of 1,000 stocked fingerlings (4 to 6-inch fish) will live four years to reach a pound. The rest will die of natural causes such as predation and disease. And of the remaining 125 walleyes, at most only 50 – just 4 to 5 percent of the original number stocked – will end up being caught by anglers.

Misconception No. 3 - stocking can help any lake.

Many anglers believe stocking walleye can improve the fishing on any lake. But DNR research has shown that only about one-third of walleye stocking works. The rest either fail or have 'unknown' results. The worst results are on big lakes that already have strong wild walleye populations and good habitat for natural reproduction. Supplemental stocking rarely works.

Misconception No. 4 - most of the DNR Fisheries Section budget goes for walleye stocking.

Actually, just 6 percent of the DNR Fisheries Section $17 million budget (about $1 million) goes for raising, rearing and stocking walleyes. The rest of the budget pays for lake and stream surveys, creel censuses, public information, lake and stream management plans, stocking trout and other species, environmental review, education, fishing piers, and coordination with other agencies.

Misconception No. 5 - stocking is the only way to improve walleye fishing.

Stocking works on some lakes. But on most walleye waters, the best way to improve the fishing would be for anglers to release some of the medium sized walleyes they catch. If 50 anglers each release three 1-pound fish over the course of the summer, they would improve their lake's walleye population more than would stocking 1,000 fingerlings or 100,000 fry. Another effective way to boost angling success is to find ways to reduce the silt and nutrients flowing into a lake from the surrounding watershed. These pollutants cover walleye spawning gravel and eggs, preventing fish from reproducing naturally. Walleye numbers usually increase in cleaner water, thus providing more fish for anglers to catch. As with all species, habitat protection is the single most important thing that can be done to preserve the quality of fishing in Minnesota.

Falls Turkey Hunt Applications

Applications for the 1993 Minnesota fall wild turkey hunt are now available. Hunters must submit their applications by Friday, July 2.

The 1993 fall hunt will consist of two five-day seasons – Oct. 13-17 and Oct. 20-24.

Applications may be obtained from county auditor's offices, most license agents and from DNR Wildlife Section field offices. A $3 application fee must accompany each hunter's application.

To participate in the computer preference drawing, a person must be at least 16 years old or possess a firearms safety certificate prior to Oct. 13, 1993.

A total of 2,400 permits will be issued for hunting birds of either sex in wild turkey zones 1-5. A fall harvest of 700 to 800 wild turkeys is expected.

A valid fall turkey hunting license ($16 resident/$56 nonresident) is required of all hunters.

For more information about the hunt call the DNR toll-free in Minnesota, 1-800-766-6000.

State task force finds racial bias in judicial system

Major finding of a two year study of the court system by a Task Force on Racial Bias in the Judicial System was that racial bias tends to be institutionalized in policies, practices and procedures that have a cumulative negative impact on people of color.

The major finding relating to criminal law is the realization that people of color are disproportionately caught up in the criminal justice system — from arrest and charging, through sentencing. This results in an over representation of minorities in the state's prison population. People of color make up six per cent of the state's population and 45 per cent of Minnesota's prison population.

The task force found that the system is more likely to adversely affect people of color at every stage of the process — and keep them in the process while eliminating whites. A negative outcome for people of color was identified at five significant points. First, at arrest; second, at charging; third, at the pre-trial and pre-sentencing stage; fourth, at plea negotiation; and fifth, at sentencing.

Arrest

Despite the fact that people of color make up only 11 per cent of the population of Hennepin County, minorities account for 53 per cent of the most serious felony convictions.

The task force found that people of color were more than twice as likely to be arrested for these most serious crimes. But once charged, they were twice as likely to have the charges dismissed outright, indicating there may have been insufficient grounds for picking them up in the first place.

Charging

There is disparity in the way in which people are charged. In Hennepin County, whites are more likely to receive a summons and African Americans are more likely to be arrested for the same offense.

Bail/Pretrial/Presentence

When it comes to the pre-trial stage, African Americans are less likely than whites to be released with no bail required in Hennepin County even through arrested for similar types of offenses. African Americans are more likely than whites to be put in jail from first appearance through case resolution for similar types of offenses. In other words, even though bail in similar amounts is set for all defendants, people of color were significantly less likely to be able to afford to make bail.

Plea Negotiations

Plea negotiations are a difficult area to examine with empirical precision because of the number and complexity of the variables involved in these decisions. But it is important since over 95 per cent of all criminal cases are disposed of by plea. At least some justice system professionals believe there is a pattern of racial disparity in plea bargaining. Thirty seven per cent of defense attorneys and nearly 20 per cent of attorneys and 30 per cent of metro judges under 50 years say that white defendants are more likely to see favorable plea bargains, all other factors being equal. Moreover, 30 per cent of the metro judges believe prosecutors give better deals when the victim is a person of color.

Sentencing.

The last step in the judicial process is sentencing. In Minnesota, African Americans are incarcerated at a rate more than 16 times higher than the rate for whites.

- In Hennepin County, whites are more likely to receive a fine and people of color are more likely to receive a jail sentence for misdemeanor crimes of assault, prostitution and theft, even though they were convicted of the same offense and had similar criminal histories.
- A look at the statewide number from 1986 to 1990 showed that people of color consistently had higher imprisonment rates than whites for criminal sexual conduct, aggravated robbery, second degree assault and dangerous weapons.

Juvenile and Family Law.

One of the most disturbing findings of the committee that examined these issues was the over-representation of minority children in the foster care system. Children of color comprise 36 per cent of all out of home placements in Minnesota. Hennepin County data in 1990 showed that African American children make up approximately 39 per cent of children in substitute care. Native American children account for 17 per cent. Asian/Pacific Islanders are three per cent and Hispanic children represent one per cent of out-of home placements.

Access to Adequate Representation.

In the report's third major area of exploration — access to adequate representation — the task force found that people of color experience a disproportionately large number of civil legal problems due to racial discrimination and poverty. The report found that people of

Ninth Judicial District responds to racial bias findings

Judge Russell A. Anderson announced recently the commitment of the judges of the Ninth Judicial District to implement the recommendations of the Minnesota Supreme Court's Task Force on Racial Bias in the Judicial System. Anderson, who is the chief judge of the 17 counties in northwestern Minnesota including Pennington county, introduced a two-part approach to ensuring that court personnel provide fair and equal treatment to everyone they serve.

The Supreme Court's task force expects to release in early June the results of a two-year study of the racial impact of policies, procedures and practices in the judicial system. The report includes recommendations for addressing problems in the areas of criminal and civil processes, juvenile and family law and access, representation and interaction with the courts.

"We, in the Ninth Judicial District, are committed to the successful implementation of the report's recommendations," said Anderson. "We will have the educational and leadership infrastructure in place before the report is released.

"Education and leadership comprise our two-pronged approach to ensuring that every citizen is treated with dignity, respect and fairness in our courts," Anderson said.

All court personnel in the Ninth Judicial District have participated in a day-long session on cultural diversity. Judges have participated in four featured programs on cultural diversity at every judicial conference since 1991. Three more sessions are scheduled for judges in 1993.

Before the report is published, all court personnel in the Ninth Judicial District will participate in a day-long session on cultural diversity led by Larry Aitken, president of the Leech Lake Tribal College, and Leticia Sanchez, Migrant Council, Crookston.

"Our judges and court personnel are making a long-term commitment to heightening our awareness of the ways we can better serve people in our multi-cultural environment," Anderson said. "We will be working on our communication and problem-solving skills and developing other skills necessary to provide public service to diverse communities in the Ninth Judicial District."

"The judges and court personnel in the Ninth Judicial District are taking personal responsibility for implementing the task force recommendations to the fullest extent that is realistically possible," Anderson said. "To be successful, we will need the support and cooperation of people inside and outside the justice system if we are to make meaningful changes."

To ensure that the recommendations are acted on, Anderson has formed the Ninth District Cultural Diversity Committee, which will be assisted by Aitkins and Sanchez. All judges in the Ninth Judicial District are members

BIBLE STUDY

Works of faith

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

A faith that works is a faith with works. Wouldn't we be in a pickle if Jesus Christ's faith had no works? There would be no forgiveness of sins, and He wouldn't be our perfect example. How could Jesus Christ be obedient to the Father if He had no works?

Could Jesus Christ glorify the Father with bad works or without works? "Don't be silly," you might say. Well, don't you think it would be silly to tell disciples of Jesus Christ that they don't need good works? How can they repent if they don't have good works (Acts 26:20)? Do you show God that you are repentant by performing bad works daily instead of good works? Of course not!

You cannot be hired to do a job for an employer unless you promise to do good works for him. Then, if you continue to do good works, he will bless you by giving you a promotion or salary increase. After you have been trained by your employer and have proven yourself, you can be promoted because of your good works. Why, you might even receive a bonus, a turkey or some other special gift. But if you perform bad works for your employer, you will get fired.

Our heavenly Father is our employer when we decide to live for Him. If we perform good works for His glory, God will bless us (Matt. 5:16; John 10:10). How about if you perform bad works for God? Won't you get fired? God gives eternal life as a free bonus for continual good works, but those who are unrepentant—continue to do what is bad, or worse yet, do nothing at all—will not receive the bonus.

Eternal life is not given to those who continue to do bad works daily (1 John 3:10; John 5:29). Rather, it is given to those who live repentant lives by doing good works daily to please the Father (Matt. 5:16). The Lord accepts us as we are, but then we must be fully trained by Him and strive to please Him in all our ways and works of faith (2 Peter 1:5-11; Luke 6:40, 46).

State task force finds racial bias in system

color are less likely to have access to representation in such civil matters as family law, housing, public income and health benefit matters, education, employment and other discrimination, consumer matters and immigration. A survey of Minnesota legal aid programs revealed that 23 per cent of legal aid clients statewide are people of color. However, the Minnesota Legal Services Coalition conservatively estimates that the number of poor people in need of legal aid services is a four times greater than the number actually served.

The Minnesota Supreme court released the 138-page report that is a result of a two-year study conducted by a 36-member task force appointed by the Minnesota Supreme Court.

The findings and recommendations in the report are based on information gathered from people inside and outside the justice system through 10 public hearings in communities around Minnesota, and 17 focus groups of people inside and outside the system, as well as surveys sent to all 261 state trial court judges and referees. Surveys also were sent to more than 4,000 attorneys, 860 victim service providers and 960 probation officers. The task force also collected data on Minnesota court decisions and proceedings, administrative procedures, treatment of litigants, witnesses and attorneys, and hiring and treatment of people of color within the court system.

Recommendations.

"Racial bias is often subtle and hard to detect," said task force chair Justice Rosalie E. Wahl. "However, that does not diminish its impact on our determination to identify it and root it out of our system."

The report called for immediate and long-term measures to address the institutional, as well as the individual, aspects of race issues. Recommendations centered on the following:

— Educating judges and court personnel on issues of racial and cultural diversity and insisting on such awareness and skill as an essential job requirement.

— Racially integrating the courts as an employer so that the system has more credibility with communities of color and is better able to serve their needs.

— Examining the racial impact of legislation, policies, practices and procedures that may have a cumulative, negative effect on people of color.

"The court system already has taken very significant steps toward addressing and eradicating racial bias in the courts," said Chief Justice A.M. Keith. Those steps include:

— Judicial training focused on issues of race and cultural diversity at conferences and judicial education programs since 1991. Four major programs were sponsored in the past two years and three more are scheduled in 1993.

— Locally specific, cultural diversity training for court employees in each of the 10 judicial districts will be completed by June 30, 1993.

— Promulgation of a uniform court interpreters policy, the translation of court forms into other languages and court sponsorship of interpreter training.

— Promulgation of a statewide racial harassment policy.

"We know that creating a culturally and racially sensitive institution takes more than short-term training," Keith said. "It requires a deeply rooted and ongoing commitment at every level of the court system."

Keith has named Associate Justice Alan C. Page to chair the Racial Bias Task Force Implementation Committee charged with following up on the recommendations and monitoring progress toward their realization. Each judicial district will also establish an implementation committee to institutionalize the reform efforts.

Whirlwind Campaign For District 1B Seat

With a special election called for July 13 to elect a replacement for Wally Sparby as State Representative from District 1B, candidates have less than a month to get their campaigns operating and make themselves known to the electorate.

Both of the candidates endorsed by their respective IR and DFL parties—Tim Finseth and Joel Swanson—do have a bit of a head start on the campaign trail. Finseth was a candidate against Rep. Sparby last fall and probably had only to reactivate his committee from that time. He also received his party's endorsement a couple of weeks ago and had that much of a head start in getting ready for the race.

Swanson was the first announced candidate for the DFL endorsement—the same day, in fact, that Sparby announced his resignation—and was making preliminary arrangements while Sparby was still awaiting his expected appointment to the state ASCS director's position. He should also have been in a ready position in the starting blocks when the endorsement gun fired at the DFL nominating convention Thursday evening.

Finseth, manager of the Marshall County Soil and Water Conservation District office at Warren, had the inside track for the IR nomination as a previous candidate who made a respectable showing in last fall's election against Sparby, an incumbent who probably could have held his position for life had he chosen to do so. He has been considered virtually unbeatable since early in his political career and Finseth's effort last year was considered good although he lost 9,783 to 4,803.

Candidates for the special election will have a doubly difficult task, having to not only convince the voters of their desirability as representatives but to convince the public to be voters. Minnesota's short summers are crammed with activity and the one thing most people are not concerned about during this time is politics. With the late crop planting this year it is unlikely there will be much harvest underway by July 13, except perhaps in the far western reaches of the district near the Red River, but there is always plenty of other farming activity to divert attention from an election.

For non-farmers there are yards, gardens and a wealth of recreational activities to compete for people's time—including the time of those who would likely be willing to work on campaign efforts during a major election period.

This special election, perhaps more than in a general election, the key probably will be in which candidate is able to mobilize the most active committees to contact voters and get them to the polls. With no candidate having the advantage of being an incumbent in this race, there should be plenty of incentive by both parties to put an all-out effort into a concentrated, intensive effort to elect their candidate.

In our opinion, whoever is elected will have a difficult time becoming the effective legislator that Rep. Sparby has been for his district. He was able to develop just the right mix of public visibility and private contact within legislative circles to be persuasive without being "pushy." And he was also able to maintain a generally conservative philosophy while wearing a DFL label, which heightened his political appeal in his district and consistently gave him higher vote totals than other candidates of his party.

He is also possessed of another quality that is invaluable to politicians—he is a people person. Wherever he went in his district he knew people by name and he was always willing, perhaps to a fault, to attend events and spend his time at the request of others. He enjoyed more trust than most political office holders, perhaps because he knows so many people on a first name basis.

As we look toward electing a different person to represent District 1B, it would be inappropriate not to extend our thanks to Wally Sparby for his hard work in behalf of his constituents and his district. We wish him well in his new post in the state ASCS office and hope to see him frequently as he returns to visit his home area.

Thanks, Lynnae, For Representing Us As Miss Thief River Falls

Special thanks also go to Lynnae Broten for her representation of Thief River Falls at the Miss Minnesota Scholarship Pageant in Austin last week....and at the other events and activities where she has made appearances on behalf of the community.

Each year a new Miss Thief River Falls takes on the responsibilities of that title and all seem to agree at the end of the year that it was an experience that has been educational, enjoyable and beneficial in a number of ways. And we have noted the poise and maturity that each seems to develop during a year of appearing and speaking in public and seeking self-improvement and knowledge in preparation for state competition.

Already a new Miss Thief River Falls exists among five candidates who will compete for the title Lynnae represents so well at the Miss Thief River Falls Scholarship Pageant Saturday, July 10. The first of these five candidates is featured in today's issue of The Times and the others will be featured in future issues of The Times and Northern Watch.

The rewards of local pageant participation are great, even if the responsibilities may seem heavy at times and the time commitment is greater than most members of the general public realize. A $1,500 scholarship awaits the local winner along with a fund to assist with expenses as the community's representative. Added to the opportunity for personal growth and development, these incentives make seeking the title worth while.

Like others who have worn the Miss Thief River Falls crown before her, Lynnae will have mixed feelings when the title passes to her successor. There will be relief mixed with reluctance to give up the crown. We hope she continues to make her goals the same as she had entering the Miss Minnesota pageant—to have fun and to do her best—and that her goals will always be met.

President Thelma Thomas called the June meeting of the Grygla Senior Citizens to order. The April secretary's report and May treasurer's report were read and approved. A motion was made and passed that we hold the Fall Flea Market on the last Saturday of September as before. The Grygla Senior Citizens took a bus to the Garden Valley Telephone Company annual meeting in Erskine on June 6. Twenty one members went on the bus. Clifford Anderson was the lucky winner of an electric drill given as a door prize. It was brought up that Sharon should be paid for her work on the extra Monday's that she puts in. Also, it was discussed that a new by-law needs to be written concerning changing the term of officers to two years instead of one year. This will be acted on at the next monthly meeting. Plans are for the Grygla Senior Citizens to go on a possible tour and also attend the Summer Theater in Warroad on Thursday, July 15. There is a sign-up sheet for all interested in going. The annual picnic at Grande Corner will again be on the last Sunday in June. Thelma had received a letter informing us of a meeting about Medicare Fraud to be held on June 25th in Thief River Falls. The meeting was adjourned.

Strandquist

Ebba Sahlberg is back from the Cities, and as usual has been having a lot of company mostly those who used to come and go hunting, etc. with Earl. Some who were there the past week were Sidney Nohre from Circle Pines, Johnny Rud from Karlstad, Leonard Jacobson from Stephen, Della Fiseth and Sally Weiler, Elphie and Linda Adla, Donavan and Kelly Donarski and family, and Margaret Donaldson and children have been doing the gardening at Sahlberg's this year, so they have spent time with Ebba. But here's the sticker, they had planted potatoes some time ago, which are barely up in in Ebba's part of the garden, over 50 voluntary potato plants have come up and with them already Ebba has had to put an end to three of those famous potato bugs. Last year some of them were written about in the Life Magazine, and we all thought she had ended that type of bug, but here they are again! They made Ebba so nervous she paid her wind and hail insurance twice, but Shirley Lafrooth at the bank in Karlstad found the mistake and sent her back the $172.00. At that, Ebba went to see the doctor for a check up. Her blood pressure was fine, her cholesterol was fine, her color was right for a Swede, and she still had fairly good eye sight. "But don't you think that I'm too heavy?" she asked. "Oh no. You're an easy keeper," said Dr. Mayo, and Ebba is back in the garden.

Morris and Marcelyn Lindstrom were to the Cities over the weekend for Nathan Lindstrom's graduation from Roseville High School. They were guests of David and Sharon Lindstrom in Anoka, and also visited with Marcelyn's aunt, Myrtle Hegstrom Peterson in Minneapolis, and cousin, Susan and Jerry Parrish from New Windsor, MD, who were houseguests at Aunt Myrtle's.

Elsie Lafrooth returned home from the Karlstad Hospital on Thursday with an armload of flowers, cards and gifts she had accumulated while spending time enjoying all the attention she was given there. Each item represented a visitor or two, so I won't attempt to name each one. I'm glad she's home and she's thankful for everything too.

A BIRTHDAY MESSAGE
TO OUR MOTHER, MARTHA HASRY
WHOSE BIRTHDAY WAS JUNE 16TH

Your heart of gold stopped beating,
Hard working hands are at rest.
God broke our hearts to show us
He only takes the "Best"
We can't bring back the old days,
Your hands no more to touch
But we'll always have beautiful memories of you Mom
We love you so much!
Our family chains been broken
And nothing seems the same
But as God calls each of us,
The chain will link again
We live on with beautiful memories;
Sprayed with a million tears.
Wishing God would have shared you,
Just a few more years.
Happy Birthday Mother. We love and miss you alot!

Daughters, Ivy and Fran

MINNESOTA POLLUTION CONTROL AGENCY
PUBLIC NOTICE ON PROPOSED AIR EMISSION FACILITY PERMIT

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Commissioner of the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency proposes to issue Amendment No. 2 to Air Emission Permit No. 890-92-OT-1 to Arctco, Inc (mailing address: 600 South Brooks Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minnesota 56701) for addition of additional fiberglass molding capacity at its snowmobile and recreational vehicle manufacturing facility located in Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota.

This facility is located in an area which is designated attainment or unclassifiable for all other criteria pollutants. This facility is not one of the 28 industrial source categories listed in the federal Prevention of Significant Deterioration regulation (40 CFR 52.21) and is major if the potential to emit is equal to or greater than 250 tons per year for any single regulated pollutant.

Air Emission Permit No. 890-92-OT-1 contains federally enforceable limits on volatile organic compounds (VOC) which will apply to the additional fiberglass molding capacity authorized, so that the additional fiberglass molding capacity is not a major modification and is therefore not subject to review under PSD regulations.

The draft amendment permit applies only to the modification described above, and authorizes the construction, installation, and operation of a cold press molding station, a resin transfer molding station, an open molding gel coat station, an open molding fiberglass station, a gluing station, and four space heating units.

The proposed duration of the amendment is that of the existing permit.

ARCTCO was permitted as a synthetic minor for PSD purposes in 1992. The potential emission rate of 249 tons VOC per year will be accomplished by limiting VOC emissions and requiring daily evaluation of VOC emissions based on quantities of VOC containing materials used each day at the facility. A summary of the facility's emission rates follows:

Emission Rate (tons/year)

| Pollutant | Actual | Potential |
|---|---|---|
| TSP | 45.8 | 208.9 |
| $SO_2$ | 0.1 | 0.3 |
| $NO_x$ | 12.7 | 90.4 |
| CO | 3.1 | 10.6 |
| VOC | 181.5 | 288.3 |

Printed on recycled paper containing at least 10% fibers from paper recycled by consumers. TDD (for hearing and speech impaired only) (612)297-5353

The preliminary determination to issue the permit is tentative. There are three formal procedures for public participation in the Agency's consideration of the permit application. These procedures are set forth in Minn. Rules pts. 7001.0100 to 7001.0130. First, interested persons may submit written comments on the proposed permit. Second, interested persons may request the Agency to hold a public information meeting. Third, interested persons may request the Agency to hold a contested case hearing, which is conducted by the Office of Administrative Hearings pursuant to the Administrative Procedures Act.

Interested persons who submit comments or requests to the Agency shall set forth:

1. a statement of the person's interest in the permit application or the draft permit,
2. a statement of the action the person wishes the Agency to take, including specific references to the section of the draft permit that the person believes should be changed, and
3. the reasons supporting the person's position, stated with sufficient specificity as to allow the Manager of the Air Quality Division to investigate the merits of the person's positions.

The public comment period commences June 22, 1993, and terminates July 22, 1993. Comments and requests should be mailed to:

John W. Ferman

Donna Harlow, parent representative on the Name the Elementary School Committee, and Glenn Espe, elementary principal, presented the committee's recommendation for the new elementary school. Donna indicated 140 suggestions were received and after a process of elimination, three names were submitted to the elementary students and staff for a vote. Those three were Challenger, Grandview and Odyssey. The name "Challenger Elementary School" was the one receiving the greatest number of votes in all the schools. Rationale for the name was that the school will be one that challenges its students and makes them challengers in life. Also, the name is in honor of the spaceship "Challenger" and crew. After some investigation, it was discovered the individual who submitted this name was Bill Desrocher, former elementary principal.

Harry Sjulson reported on behalf of the Northwest ECSU Board and Darla Twomey on behalf of the PER Committee. Carl Clark indicated the first negotiations session with the Cleaners had been held.

Business Manager Harry Nelson reported on investments as of May 19 and reviewed the recommendations for renewing insurances and the hold harmless agreement for the sale of ditto fluid. Harry also indicated the state did approve credit enhancement legislation and that the district is proposing to sell bonds on June 14th.

Board consensus was to support efforts of the Chamber in promoting our community and to become involved in their activities. Dr. Duncan also reviewed the May 1 enrollment report and the PER Committee recommendations. The Board was informed that the district was not selected as a graduation pilot site. Bob also reviewed the Letter of Understanding with the TRFEA concerning use of family illness leave and the job description for the 0-3 Early Childhood Case Manager/School Psychologist. An update was given on the building projects including the recommendation concerning change orders, the need to schedule the groundbreaking ceremony for the Lincoln addition, and that D & D for Franklin will be available soon. Jim Haapala, Project Superintendent, indicated the area for the elementary school has been stripped of top soil and fill has been brought in for parts of the complex. He expects footings will begin to be put in place in the next week and a half. ## TRF student participates in special poject

Heather Olson, a sophomore at Concordia College in Moorhead, is participating in the Rural Reinvestment Project (RIP) this summer. Olson, an English major and philosophy minor, is the daughter of Myles and Susan Olson of Thief River Falls.

Students of the Rural Reinvestment Project are required to participate in the course, Psychology 380: Special Topics: Preparation for Rural Community Service. In consultation with community leaders and Concordia faculty, part of the course requirements include the design and implementation of a meaningful community service project, often in the students hometown.

Olson's project will take place in Thief River Falls and is titled "A Theater Arts Program for Increasing Elder and Youth Interaction." She will work with Connie Stock writing curriculum for the Magnet Arts Drama class, working primarily with the elderly and performing at area nursing homes.

St. Bernard's to teach Japanese to all students

Through arrangements made with an internship program by Dixie Klein, principal at St. Bernard's Catholic elementary school, conversational Japanese will be taught to all students in kindergarten through sixth grade at the school next fall.

Approval has recently been received for an intern from Japan to come to Thief River Falls, live in the community and work as a teacher at St. Bernard's school. The teacher will arrive in early October under the International Internship Program and remain on staff for the remainder of the school year, Klein said.

She said the internship program offers a unique opportunity for cross-cultural learning. The intern presents cultural information as he or she has lived it. The non-salaried intern offers firsthand education on Japanese language, customs, history, geography, art and a blend of cultural activities such as calligraphy, cooking, paper crafts, ikebana, Cha-do and kimono dressing.

"The intern's responsibility is to share these things with the school, but he or she is also delighted to share them with parents and other interested citizens in the community," Klein said. "Assigned duties depend on individual skills, interests and needs of the host school."

Former TRF native teaches Bible in Russia

Russia is a point of interest for other countries world-wide. However, very few of us get an opportunity to see how it really is, as described by a person who has actually been there.

Tom Shetler, a native of Thief River Falls, spent several weeks in Russia educating their teachers. Shetler taught them about the Bible, and how to best instruct others in that area of study. In doing so, he amassed a collection of slides and first-hand observations regarding the Russian people and their customs.

Shetler is a former member of the United Methodist church in Thief River Falls, and now resides in Bloomington. He is a post-secondary educator in the Twin Cities area.

TRF council re-activates depot preservation group

Council also wants to get Hwy. 59 on National highway system

Thief River Falls city council has decided to pursue efforts to save the Soo Line depot in downtown Thief River Falls, and pursue efforts to put Highway 59 on the National Highway system.

At a meeting Tuesday night, the council re-activated the Soo Line depot preservation committee. The depot has been a landmark in Thief River Falls for 79 years. Canadian Pacific, owner of the Soo Line, is in the process of gathering bids from demolition crews.

The city established a Soo Line depot preservation committee a few years ago to investigate the possibilities of acquiring the depot, but once the purchase price and repair costs were added up, it apparently didn't seem economically feasible at the time to purchase the depot. The committee was not given instructions to pursue the matter, and the issue was dropped. When it was announced that Soo Line was gathering bids from demolition crews, interest in saving the building was renewed.

■ City will attempt to get Highway 59 put on the National Highway System.

The council has decided to diligently pursue efforts to put Highway 59 between Highway 2 and the Canadian border on the Highways of National Significance map. According to a letter from Jerry Skelton of the Office of Highway Programs with the Minnesota department of transportation, Highway 59 from Canada to Thief River Falls is not on the system at all. The portion of Highway 59 between Thief River Falls and Highway 2 is on the system, but it falls into the category of being over the National Highway System (NHS) mileage targets for Minnesota set by the Federal Highway Administration.

The council wishes to pursue the matter because a number of benefits will accrue to the region if it is on the system. The NHS is a new system established by Congress in 1991. There are two pots of funds in the program — one for NHS and one for all other roads. There isn't as much competition for NHS funds as there will be for all other roadways.

The council is willing to pursue efforts to get the road qualified as a road in the NHS because Highway 59 is the major north/south route through northwestern Minnesota. It is a vital trade and tourism link between Minnesota and Winnipeg and affects trade centers of Detroit Lakes and Thief River Falls. Negotiations are also underway among Minnesota, Manitoba and the U.S.

Pursuit of her nursing career has created a busy life for Michelle Bergeron, but she still finds time to sing and to read motivational literature.

Twenty-three year old Michelle is the daughter of Gary and Colleen Bergeron of Argyle, a 1988 graduate of Argyle high school and will be a sophomore in the Northland Community college nursing program. She is five feet four inches tall, has brown hair and hazel eyes. Her pageant talent number will be a classical vocal solo.

"I am currently seeking a Bachelor of Science degree in nursing," she said, "and I would like to pursue my Master's degree in nursing and specialize in gynecology and oncology.

"I have one year of experience as an LPN in adult psychiatry and am currently working with the elderly. Other work experience includes waitressing, lifeguarding, retail sales and home health care."

She said that as a psychiatric nurse she was active in implementing and revising clinical pathways, which set goals and standards for quality patient care.

In high school Michelle was a Hugh O'Brian Youth Ambassador, secretary of her class, a letter winner in volleyball, cheerleading and music and a scholastic honor stu-

"The Country Gals" yearn to be entertainers

"It wasn't any fun sitting in the basement and singing to the walls," is the way Gladys Hanson explains the motivation for her and three of her friends to form "The Country Gals" group and share their talent and enthusiasm with others.

In the year or so that they have been together they have gained a following at the local homes for the aged, senior centers and senior church or residence groups in Thief River Falls and ventured as far afield as Warren and Fosston.

They don't claim to be professional entertainers—their usual pay has been a dinner or lunch with the people they entertain—but if you measured their fun on the Richter Scale like you do earthquakes, the needle would probably never stop bouncing.

"Oh, we have a lot of fun!" says Ruby Knutson, the 77-year-old vocalist, tambourine and kazoo player who is the senior member of the group. "It isn't just the music, although we all love that. We tell a few jokes and add a few sound effects....like when we do 'She'll Be Comin' Round the Mountain' and Gladys does the rooster crowing."

Gladys must do a pretty fair imitation of a Leghorn or Rhode Island Red, because when she first cut loose with the crowing at the senior center in Warren she had more than one member of the audience looking around to see where the bird was. And that reaction still has all four members of the group chuckling.

Gladys plays the electric guitar as well as doing the vocals.....and the crowing! Arlene Huseth, the kid of the group at 61, bought a new keyboard last October to have more versatility in the performances. Ruby, Gladys and Arlene are all from Thief River Falls. The fourth member of the group is Evelyn Albaugh, 70, of Newfolden, who plays the flat top guitar and also joins in on the vocals.

With experience comes the courage to do some experimenting. "We're doing some solos and duets now," Ruby said. "You know you have to try something new once in awhile."

For all of the members of "The Country Gals," who sported their new outfits for the first time at

Speaking Of . . .

by Sharon LaCoursiere

. . . Summer Fun on the Fourth

The Fourth of July is summer's big holiday. There are parades, picnics and celebrations from coast to coast, commemorating the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Fireworks almost always mark the end of the festive day.

Many cities and small towns have parades to celebrate the Fourth of July. Local and area high school bands march in the parade, townsfolk spend hours decorating floats, fancy cars are shined to become glittering thrones for area beauty queens, and members of various clubs and organizations don slightly mothball scented uniforms to march proudly along.

Fried chicken, potato salad, chocolate cake and watermelon are the foods of the day, eaten on picnic tables and blankets spread on bright green grass under blue skies filled with cloud puffs blown gaily about by balmy breezes. Children are, for once, allowed to eat on the run, and they do so, shrieking with laughter.

City parks are filled with merrymakers. There are games of competition and chance, contests and tournaments, and recreation and entertainment for people of all ages, from Granddad to Baby Susie.

Reunions and get-togethers are planned for the long Fourth of July weekend, because people will often take advantage of that extra day off from work to travel somewhere. Relatives from far and wide appear and tall tales and short stories are told in abundance.

As the gala day draws to a close, fireworks are anticipated. Cars are packed with folding chairs, blankets and pleasantly pooped people and they begin the drive to the riverside. Conveniently located back yards are arrayed with strategically placed chairs and cushions, the best of which are immediately sat upon and claimed by elderly uncles and aunts.

Everyone is ready and waiting for the final event of the day—the fireworks.

As soon as darkness descends, the sky is illuminated over and over with sparkling, shining, glittering lights that burst and streak through the sky. Ears are assaulted with shrill whistles and shrieks, loud booms and bangs.

What an exciting ending to a perfect day!

However, if you plan to be in Thief River Falls over the Fourth of July, don't expect any of the above. If you want Fourth of July celebrations, you'd better go somewhere else for them. Our fair city has no parade, no picnics, no celebrations and no fireworks on the Fourth of July—so there—and more's the pity for it.

Thief River Falls accepted a loan of $5,124,300 from Farmers Home Administration Thursday. The loan, which will be paid back over 30 years at 5.25 per cent interest, will be used to pay for the Water treatment plant improvements that are just now nearing completion. The successful application for the excellent terms of the contract, occurred almost as a fluke. City Clerk Jerry Wigness explained that after an early inquiry was turned down, he decided to make a request after bids on the project were received. The city also received $1.6 million from other agencies. Pictured from left at the closing ceremony are: Alderman Don Barron, Clerk Jerry Wigness, Jerome Carlson, district director for Farmers Home Administration, Mayor Robert Reeve, Director of Utilities Arlo Rude and Willis Eken of Congressman Peterson's office.

FARMERS WORKERS' COMPENSATION

The requirement that farmers carry workers' compensation has changed January 1, 1983.

• Farmers who pay less than $8,000 in cash wages annually are still exempt.

• Farmers who pay between $8,000 and the statewide average annual wage (presently between $23,000 and $24,000) may choose NOT TO PURCHASE workers' compensation - IF they carry $300,000 liability and $5,000 Medical Payments, which would apply to farm laborer's injuries.

While this change in the law looks good on the surface, there are severe limitations that the farmer should be aware of.

1. Before the injured employee can collect benefits under farm liability, he or she must PROVE the farmer negligent.

2. In the case of a severe injury, the $300,000 limit may prove to be grossly inadequate. It is doubtful that you could re-attach limbs and then pay permanent partial disability for life with $300,000.

3. If there is not negligence on the part of the farmer, only the $5,000 medical payments coverage would apply.

Workers' Compensation pays for medical and loss of wages to the injured worker, regardless of fault.

Dear Readers,
On every Fourth of July we celebrate our country's birthday. It is important that we remember the principles on which our government is based. It would be good for us, and our children, to re-read the Declaration of Independence and the U.S. Constitution. These documents are our true roots.
Respectfully,
Belmont Funeral Home

"Country Gals" are entertainers

Friday's Heritage Center program, music had been an important part of their lives in their youth, but had been more or less set aside for the last 20 or 30 years or more. None of the group reads music; all are basically self-taught on the instruments they use and play by ear.

Arlene had played piano for her own entertainment for most of her life. Gladys started playing the guitar when she was nine years old. The two of them had met and performed together for about a year before one of Arlene's girl friends introduced them to Ruby and Evelyn, who had also been doing a little performing together.

One of the keys to the whole operation is Arlene's long-time love for country music and her hobby of writing down the lyrles to her favorites over the years.

"I always liked so sing them," she said, "and to sing them you had to know the words. So when I would listen to the songs on the radio I would write down the words." Over the years, dating back to the 1940s, she has written down the words to hundreds of songs which she has kept in books. Those songs form the basis of "The Country Gals" repertoire.

"And I have a lot of records," she said, "mostly 45s but some 33s and 78s and some tapes, too. I have several phonographs to play them on." The recordings provide a refresher if the ladies don't remember the tunes for the lyrics.

Arlene also hosts the practice sessions in her garage at 806 North Horace Avenue in the summer or her basement in the winter. Evelyn drives in from Newfolden and Ruby and Gladys make the short drives from Riverside Terrace and 609 North Arnold Avenue. Gladys brings the electric guitar she bought in the past year and they hook up the microphones to their new sound system.

Practices are held once or twice a week at the convenience of all the members and never on a regular schedule. They practice before each performance to plan out what they will play, sing and add to the program in the way of readings, jokes or other acts.

The programs that "The Country Gals" present usually run about 45 minutes to an hour in length, although they said they have enough material for several hours and they don't think it would be any problem to perform for that length of time.

Although they perform about once a month at Oakland Park Nursing Home, Valley Home and Skylite Apartments in Thief River Falls and the senior center and Good Samaritan Nursing Home in Warren, the members of the group wouldn't mind taking on a few more invitations. Groups interested in having "The Country Gals" perform may call Ruby at 681-3154, Gladys at 681-2765 or Arlene at 681-4121.

"We do a lot of country music from the 1940s and 1950s and a little bit of today's music," Arlene said. "We do the modern stuff that we like, but music is always changing. And we have a fair number of Gospel songs that we can do and a few novelty numbers, too."

And she summed up the whole basis of "The Country Gals" when she said, "It would be a dull and lonely world if we didn't have our music." Now they not only have it, they are taking the time and effort to share it. And, you know, that's really a pretty nice exchange.

Community college fees to increase

Students at Minnesota's 21 community college campuses, including Northland Community College in Thief River Falls, will pay a general fee of $39.25 per credit next fall—an increase of 4.67 per cent from the current level.

The increase is smaller than the average increases over the last 10 years and in line with guidelines recommended by the Minnesota Legislature, according to Chancellor Geraldine Evans. The new general fee was approved by the Minnesota state board for community colleges.

The resident student general fee includes $37 in tuition and a $2.25 student life portion. The current general fee is $37.50 per credit. Under the new rate, a full-time student taking 45 credits would pay $1,766.25 for fall, winter and spring quarters.

"We believe this maintains our long-term commitment to keep community college tuition as low as possible, Chancellor Evans said. "While we regret having to increase tuition, the action is necessary to ensure quality offerings in our classrooms."

Governor boards for state universities and technical colleges have enacted similar increases for next year.

More than 100,000 credit and non-credit students attend classes at community colleges each year. Many take freshman and sophomore classes in preparation for transfer to four-year colleges and universities. Others take classes for job preparation, upgrading of job skills and exploration of new careers.

Talent night July 16

Amateur talent night at the Red Lake county fair in Oklee will take place Friday, July 16, at 7:30 p.m. The fair will run from July 16 through July 18.

Numerous area entertainers and performers will be competing for cash prizes of $100, $75 and $50. A similar contest last year proved to be a popular attraction for the fair.

Talent is being sought in vocal and instrumental music, comedy, dance, skil or recitation. Participation is open to anyone who is not a professional in the area of competition.

Persons interesting in entering competition may call or write Clarence Oagner at P.O. Box 222, Red Lake Falls, MN 56750 (phone 698-4475) or Shirley Bregier, Route 3, Box 131, Red Lake Falls (phone 465-4359.

Entries should include the name, address and telephone number of the entrant, number of participants in the entry and what type of talent will be presented, such as vocal, instrumental, dance or other.

Pack 59 cleans ditches for special award

Wolf Cubs from Den 2, Pack 59 of Thief River Falls are working toward the completion of requirements for a "World Conservation Award".

To qualify for this award, the boys must participate in a Den or Pack conservation project along with other requirements.

Nathan Browning, Ryan Broden, Brandon Nelson, Reid Sjaaheim and Anthony Wold along with Den Chiefs Colin Browning, Stephanie Wold and Leader Trudy Wold, cleaned a four-mile stretch of ditches.

The aluminum cans were brought to the Occupational Development Center and the money collected, $1.80, will be used to purchase a tree.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

The Thief River Falls sixth grade girls recently won the state championship title for Minnesota Pacesetters basketball. All too often, however, some of the most important people are overlooked. I am referring to the parents.

Many times practice locations and practice times were changed and sometimes at the last minute. You always had the players there on time and were there to pick them up when practice was over. I would like to thank you for giving me the opportunity to work with and coach such a fine group of young athletes.

I would also like to thank you for all of your support, patience and understanding, for without that we could not have accomplished what we did.

Thank-you.
Tom Ronchetti

Classes for expectant parents set

The classes are designed for those in their first six months of pregnancy. They are free of charge and held on Tuesday evenings for five consecutive weeks. Parents and parents-to-be are provided with information that promotes healthy babies and healthy mothers and gives new families a good beginning.

Marshall Co. museum open on July Fourth

Marshall County Historical Society's museum in Warren will be open Sunday, July 4, from noon to 4 p.m., according to Elaine Olson, curator.

The society is looking for railroad artifacts to be donated or placed on loan. One room in the depot at the fairgrounds in Warren is being reserved for display of these items.

Walkway on dam closed due to repairs

On Monday, June 28, the walkway on the power dam was closed for repairs.

Gary Page, power plant operator, explained that city crews will be working on the gates under the dam. There are three gates and each gate is expected to take at least one week to repair. It is possible that the walkway will be closed for more than four weeks.

Page said the water level will not be lowered during this period and access to the river for individuals interested in fishing near the river will not be affected.

Page said the dam was built around 1945 and this is probably the first time they have made repairs on the gates.

Citizens are asked to be patient while work is being conducted on the gates. They should also realize that the walkway is being closed for their safety and the safety of workers.

ACTIVITIES

Fireworks Paintings

The Fourth of July means fireworks to many people. This is a rather daring but exciting activity that children can do to create a great fireworks painting.

It is best to do this activity outside. You will need sponges, a very large piece of paper, tape and paint. Tape the paper to a flat surface like a fence. Dip the sponges in the paint. Standing at a distance from the paper, throw the sponge with the paint on it at the paper!

The impact of the sponge against the paper will spatter paint in a circular motion similar to a firecracker burst. You can use a variety of colors to create this daytime fireworks display.

PARENTING TIPS

Rainy Day Activities

Rainy days can provide parents with some of their greatest challenges. This is especially true if children are accustomed to vigorous outdoor play. Parents must provide their children with interesting, exciting activities if household peace and sanity is to be maintained. Here are some ideas.

* Cut pictures from catalogs or magazines. Cover pictures with contact paper after mounting on colored paper. (Use as gifts or hang on the wall).

* Make a raft or boat from popsicle sticks. Glue together and after dry, paint.

* Use these days for some of those specialty books" Dot-to-Dot, paint with water, fun with scissors.

* Make a tent or play house with a blanket or tablecloth over a cardtable or chairs.

* Read books, listen to records, look at photo albums or old catalogs.

* Go to the library.

* Cook or bake something.

* Clean closets. It's amazing what you will find to entertain you and the kids for the rest of the day.

* Let the kids wash and dry all of their water-proof toys.

* If you are really adventurous (and it is not a lightning storm) go for a walk in the rain. Talk about how everthing looks in the rain compared to in the sunshine.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk about what you see out your window. What is different on a rainy day compared to a day when the sun is shining?

IMPRESSIONS

Beth Johnson

The Fourth of July is Sunday. If you are at all like me, the Fourth of July evokes memories of fireworks and firecrackers. According to a news report I heard, this year has been a good year for firework sales as this year is a wet year and so the worry of fire is not as great as in other years. I do not like fireworks. I'm glad that they are not legal in our state. I guess I'm the worrying kind of person—or maybe, in my old age, fireworks just scare me!

I do remember the awe of holding a sparkler when I was a young child. I was fascinated by the sparks and the colored light made by our sparklers. Perhaps I was also enjoying the fact that we kids were being allowed to stay up late enough so that it was dark outside. Remember when it was so terrible to have to go to bed when it was still light outside? On the Fourth of July, darkness was the essential component to lovely sparklers, so as a child, being allowed to stay up until dark was a part of the mystique of the Fourth and its sparklers.

I spent a lot of my youth in the town of Muskegon, Michigan. If you look on a map, you'll see that Muskegon is on the East Coast of Lake Michigan. There is a channel leading from Lake Michigan to Muskegon Lake. On the Fourth of July, in Muskegon, we would drive to a viewing place on Muskegon Lake and would settle in with the other Muskegonites and watch the beautiful fireworks that that town displayed over the lake. I remember being a bit scared, but we were nowhere near the fireworks, so we simply could enjoy their beauty. Traveling home after the fireworks the after fireworks traffic was a part of the fun of the fireworks. To be part of the night life of the city, if only for a short time lent mystique to the Fourth and its fireworks.

One year, on the Fourth of July, we were moving from Ohio to Kansas. Our boys were small. We were staying for a few days at the home of my parents in Chicago. There for the Fourth every backyard seemed to have its own version of fireworks. I felt no mystique about that Fourth. I was simply glad to be leaving the city and its noise and the scary feeling it gave me.

Another year, on the Fourth of July, we were living in a small town in Kansas. We had family visiting us. Some friends from the small town where we were living had invited all of us to watch their firework display that they were orchestrating in some field near the town. This was to be a private fireworks display. I felt trepidation at attending this event. I really didn't trust the people to put together a safe display. Everyone's feelings and my fear were left intact by the arrival of a giant storm. This storm was severe enough to cause all of us to go to the basement for quite a while, and even to take shelter under furniture for a bit of time. The storm was severe enough to cause the lights to go out. We had to find candles and flashlights. After the storm was over, one of the children in our household was heard to say that that was "God's fireworks." I will never forget the feeling of closeness our enlarged family felt during that storm. I will also never forget how spectacular God's fireworks can be. They make Man's look pretty puny.

Another Fourth of July saw us watching fireworks with some friends of ours in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan where we were living. A couple of small towns took turns providing the fireworks display for the area. This year we were watching the fireworks in Daggett. We had all piled into one car and driven the few miles to Daggett. It seemed like most of the area's people were there. I was not expecting any spectacular fireworks. I was surprised at how beautiful these fireworks were. Once again, the mystique of the Fourth were the friends with whom we shared this time as well as the beauty of the fireworks. That particular evening, God once again showed His power. For, while so many of us were watching the manmade display of fireworks, a storm was approaching which contained tornadoes. Lives were spared that Fourth of July as people had left their homes, which became damaged by the tornado, and instead were gathered together watching the firework display.

Fireworks are beautiful. They are also dangerous. Enjoy the Fourth this year. Don't let an accident with fireworks ruin your good times.

Fireworks are beautiful, but they cannot compare with the beauty of "God's Fireworks" displayed every time there is a storm.

Have a happy and safe Fourth of July, and if you are fortunate enough to see a fireworks display, either man's or God's, enjoy it!

Restoration of antique farm equipment to be displayed at the new building at Peder Engelstad Pioneer Village in Thief River Falls has begun with this vintage John Deere manure spreader. Parts were secured to put it in operating order and it was given a new coat of John Deere red paint. Yes, red paint. Early John Deere equipment was painted red and the company still carries paint in the original color. The lettering was done with stencils cut by hand and based on a photograph. The restoration was done by (left to right) Joel Johnson, Corey Thorson, John Gunsted and project supervisor Denny Johnson. The Pennington County Historical Society is looking for more old farm machinery in good condition to place on display in the large new farm equipment building.

Construction crews have been busy at the airport in the past two weeks. Rain has slowed the project somewhat, but Northern Paving of Crookston expect to complete the $1.2 million project in two to three weeks. The project, which receives 90 per cent of its funding from the FAA and 10 per cent of its funding from the city, involves bituminous overlay of the runway and taxiways as well as installation of new signs.

TRF third at EGF Invitational

First loss of the 1993 season kept the Thief River Falls American Legion baseball team out of the championship game, but a 3-1 tournament showing did produce a third place finish for Post 117 at the eighth annual East Grand Forks Invitational, completed Sunday.

The four-day, eight-team, two-division round-robin event began Friday when Thief River Falls beat the Grand Forks Royals 4-1 but lost a 6-4 ten-inning decision to eventual champion Fridley.

Post 117 bounced back to beat Red Lake Falls 7-3 Saturday, then added a 4-2 third place game victory over host East Grand Forks Sunday.

"I'm not displeased because we finished third," offered Thief River Falls coach Howard Dalager. "We played some excellent baseball. The game we lost to Fridley was a very intense, hard fought game. It was ugly at times, but well played at times, too. It was an entertaining game to watch, to play and to coach."

Three doubleheaders awaited the 11-1 Thief River Falls team this week – a 5:30 p.m. match-up against Detroit Lakes Tuesday and a 6 p.m. outing against Crookston Thursday, both at Irv Wilson Field, and a 1:30 p.m. Fourth of July matinee against Fargo Sunday at Jack Williams Stadium.

Thief River Falls' Carter Rogalla earned individual honors at the East Grand Forks Invitational when he was named the tournament's Outstanding Hitter. Outstanding Pitcher and Outstanding Defensive Player awards were also presented.

Grand Forks Royals .................. 1

Jeremy Olson threw a two-hitter, Steve Burslie went 2-for-2 and Joby Looker had two RBI as Thief River Falls beat the Grand Forks Royals 4-1.

Only run scored off Olson, who struck out two and walked two, was unearned – as a result of three third inning Thief River Falls errors.

Thief River Falls ....................... 4

Two tenth inning errors allowed Fridley to score two runs in a 6-4 Thief River Falls loss that ended a season-opening nine-game win streak for Post 117.

After taking an early 1-0 lead, Thief River Falls overcame 2-1, 3-2 and 4-3 deficits to push the game into the tenth when two errors on the same play gave Fridley a tie-breaking run and put another runner at third – and in position to add an insurance score.

Rick Ostby pitched 8 1/3 innings before giving way to Carter Rogalla, who worked out of a ninth inning jam, but wound up with the loss in the tenth.

Rogalla had three hits to lead the Post 117 offense, with David Blazek and Robert Nelson both picking up two hits.

Carter Rogalla snapped a 2-2 tie with a lead-off home run in the bottom of the sixth to lift Thief River Falls past East Grand Forks 4-2 in the third place game – matching the two second place teams in each division.

Jason Svir and Rogalla both had two hits to back the pitching of Joby Looker and Marc Haugen.

Looker went six innings for the win, giving up just four hits while walking one and striking out two. Haugen, who missed the Friday/Saturday tournament games because of a hockey committment in Madison, WI for the USHL No. 1 draft pick, picked up a save with a seventh inning relief appearance.

Carter Rogalla leads Prowlers' hitters in 1993

Six Thief River Falls batters hit .324 or higher during the recently-completed 1993 high school baseball season, according to statistical information supplied by Prowlers head coach Tracey Wensloff.

Carter Rogalla led the way with a .452 batting average, collecting 33 hits in 73 at-bats. Marc Haugen hit .392, Wade Evenson .361, Jason Svir .345, Nathan Knutson .342, and Steve Burslie .324. Rick Ostby was just one hit away from giving the Prowlers seven .300 hitters – finishing at .297.

Burslie is a sophomore; the others atop the Thief River Falls hit parade are seniors.

The Prowlers hit .299 as a team in winning their first North Sub-Section 8AA title this spring. The 19-7 season ended with a 5-1, 7-3 doubleheader loss to Little Falls in a 2-out-of-3 game Section 8AA championship series.

Haugen and Svir were the Prowlers' top run-producers with 30 and 27 RBI, respectively. The aggressive Thief River Falls offense also featured 97 stolen bases in 26 games, including 25 for Svir and 22 by Evenson.

Sophomore Eric Bjorgaard wound up as the Prowlers' No. 1 starter, finishing with a 3-1 record and a 2.81 earned-run average. He struck out 27 and walked 21 in 42 1/3 innings.

Haugen emerged as the team's top relief pitcher, working 31 2/3 innings in 12 appearance. He went 5-1 with a 4.20 ERA.

Graduation will take most of the regulars who helped lead the Prowlers to the most wins in school history, and Wensloff announced earlier he would be taking a year off from his teaching and coaching duties to continue his education. He has coached baseball, football and hockey in School District 564 the past seven years.

Baseball letter winners this spring included seniors Robert Nelson, Jeremy Olson, Evenson, Haugen, Knutson, Ostby, Rogalla, and Svir; juniors Joby Looker, Jayson Olson and Andy Peterson; sophomores Jason Hruby, Bjorgaard and Burslie; along with student managers Leslie Ammerman, Kristi Lindberg and Kari Krankkala.

Legion posts 11-10 victory over Roseau

Thief River Falls held off Roseau 11-10 Thursday in late reported American Legion baseball action at Roseau.

The winners had an 8-0 cushion through 3 1/2 innings, but with two out in the bottom of the fourth, Thief River Falls starter David Blazek walked five consecutive hitters and Josh Stromlund greeted reliever Jason Svir with a bases-clearing double as Roseau chopped the difference to 8-6.

Trailing 11-7 heading into the bottom of the seventh, Roseau put together another rally that made it a one-run game, and had the tying and winning runs on base, before it finally ended.

Svir wound up with the win. Nathan Knutson, Steve Burslie and Jeremy Olson had two hits apiece for the winners, with Olson driving in three runs.

DNR News

Governor Arne Carlson has proclaimed the Fourth of July holiday, July 2-5, as Minnesota's first Water Wise Weekend.

To alert Minnesota's water recreation enthusiasts to the dangers of unsafe use of our state's waterways, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Division of Enforcement has launched a public awareness campaign underscoring the need for safety around the water.

"The Independence Day weekend is traditionally filled with boating and other water activities for hundreds of thousands of Minnesotans. It's a perfect time to remind people that although recreational experiences on the water are some of the most enjoyable, on occasion they can turn into tragedy," said Capt. Byron Dyrland, DNR Northwest Regional Enforcement Supervisor. "Through ignorance, bad luck or irresponsible action, 357 people died in Minnesota in water accidents in the last five years," he added.

According to DNR statistics, 117 people have died in boating accidents and 240 in swimming and other water-related accidents in the five-year period from 1987 through 1982. Many of the tragedies could have been avoided if the victims had taken a few simple safety precautions.

The DNR gives these tips to help ensure that Minnesotans have a safe and Water Wise Weekend over the Fourth of July holiday:

■ Always wear a life jacket when boating and make sure your children put theirs on as well.

■ Avoid alcoholic beverages – not just in the boat, but whenever you are near the water. Many swimming and diving accidents are caused by alcohol use.

■ Learn to swim. There are swimming classes available for people of all ages. One of the reasons water accidents have decreased over the last 40 years is because more and more people learn to swim.

■ When your child is near the water, you should be near your child. Parents must keep a close eye on their children. Make arrangements ahead of time so you don't assume someone else is supervising the children, and they think you are watching. A moment of carlelessness may lead to a lifetime of regret.

■ Don't overload your boat. Many fatal boating accidents are caused by too many people on board small boats. Every boat should have a capacity plate telling the maximum number of passengers that should be carried. Besides being dangerous, overloading is unlawful.

Last year DNR officers and county sheriff's deputies arrested 175 people for boating while intoxicated (BWI). The DNR says that intoxicated operation of a boat can be even more dangerous than drunken automobile driving because of the environmental factors that affect boaters.

"Added stress factors, such as noise, sun, wind, and vibration can actually increase the effect alcohol has on balance and reaction time and make an alcohol concentration of .035 (one-third the legal limit for driving a car) too dangerous to drive a boat," Dyrland noted.

DNR conservation officers will be on Minnesota waters in full force making a special effort to educate people about water safety, as well as detect and arrest intoxicated boat operators during Water Wise Weekend.

"Although July 2 through July 5 is officially designated as Water Wise Weekend, we want Minnesotans to learn more about water safety and be water wise every weekend through the year," Dyrland said.

Common Fishing Violations

Department of Natural Resources recommends that anglers read the regulations booklet to avoid some of the most common violations observed by conservation officers, including:

- Transporting fish packaged incorrectly.
- Fishing without a license in possession.
- Possessing more than one limit of fish.
- Fishing for bass when the season is closed.
- Using more than one line.

TRF council reactivates depot preservation group

Page 11

Customs service to expand the Lancaster Port of Entry on Highway 59 to a 24 hour status.

Sen. Paul David Wellstone has joined efforts to encourage the department of transportation to include the portion of the highway in the system. "Highway 59 is a critical transportation route in that portion of Minnesota. I urge you to give full consideration to the needs of the area in determining the final National Highway System plan for the State of Minnesota," said Wellstone in a letter to Skelton.

Skelton said that Highway 59 was given full consideration by the external advisory board appointed by Commissioner Denn to develop the NHS. The board used a combination of objective criteria and evaluation tools and regional input, priorities and reviews coordinated by each Regional Development Commission. With a limited mileage target, not every region got all that they wanted, he said.

Skelton said that it is expected that if adopted by Congress, the NHS will be able to be amended when justified. Therefore, if Highway 59 border crossing ever expands to 24 hour status, the NHS designation should be able to be revisited. It should be pointed out though, he said, that the board felt that Highway 59 was too close and parallel to I-29 in service, and that none of its criteria or evaluation tools would have been met by adding Highway 59 to Canada.

Sandy Warner Coltom, transportation planner for the Northwest Regional Development Commission, presented information and a recommendation stating that the RDC stands behind its initial recommendation to include Highway 59 in its entirety in the NHS.

The recommendation notes that Highway 59 is the major route from Winnipeg through Minnesota. Two casinos are located along this route (Mahnomen and Thief River Falls) generating tremendous amounts of traffic. Several parks, the "key system" airport in Thief River Falls, and Canadian Pacific railroad line are all located along this route.

Eastman Regional Development Commission (Canada) and Southeastern Manitoba residents are also promoting that Provincial T.H. 59 in Manitoba from Winnipeg to the U.S. border to become a National Highway and the Port of Entry be upgraded to 24 hours.

■ The city of Thief River Falls will apply for permission from the DNR to drawdown the Thief and Red Lake reservoir in Thief River Falls in an effort to consolidate sediment.

Efforts to drawdown the river and reduce the amount of sediment and thus control sedimentation, weed problems, and improve fishing and water quality, may have hit a snag.

Unsure of whether a permit to drawdown the reservoir was required, the city sent a letter to the DNR informing them of their intent to drawdown the reservoir this summer. Tuesday night the council learned from Kevin Adolfs, engineer for the Red Lake Watershed district which will oversee the project, that the DNR has requested that the city submit a permit application. Adolfs said depending on what is required in the permit, the permit process could slow down preparations for the drawdown. Adolfs said the permit application will be sent to all regulatory agencies that have some authority over the river including Minnesota Pollution Control Agency and the Corps of Engineers.

Adolfs said he does not believe the DNR has any really pressing concerns about the project, but wants to find out what public opinion is of the project.

Officials turn investigation over to MPCA

Investigation into a diesel fuel spill reported to law enforcement on June 16 has been turned over to the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency.

Wednesday, June 16, law enforcement officials and the fire department were notified of a diesel fuel spill that was flowing into the Red Lake river reservoir near the dam. The diesel fuel was traced to a spill in a parking lot across from Bridgeman's on Main avenue. Law enforcement officials were not able to determine the source of the spill and have turned over the entire investigation to the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency. The fuel found in a large pool was cleaned up with assistance from Lakehead Pipeline crews. Law enforcement officials do not know what further clean-up might be necessary, if any.

Arctco leases downtown Hartz building

The Times office has received numerous inquiries as to what is happening with the downtown Harts building at Second and Horace in Thief River Falls.

According to Arctco staff, the building has been leased by Arctco for storage purposes. Some of the older and slower moving parts inventory from a building at the Arctco plant have been temporarily re-located into the building. Arctco is planning to move the building which contained the parts on its lot. More information about that move will appear in a later issue of The Times.

UMC to offer baccalaureate

University of Minnesota—Crookston will begin offering baccalaureate degrees in addition to its associate degree programming in the fall of 1993, according to Dr. Donald Sargeant, chancellor.

Sargeant said the Minnesota Higher Education Coordinating Board likes the university's idea of turning the Crookston school into an experimental baccalaureate degree, job-oriented college.

Jerdee selected for internship at 3M company

Dana Jerdee of Lake Park, a 1993 graduate of the aviation maintenance technology major at Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls, has been selected to serve an internship at the 3M Corporation in St. Paul.

Jerdee was chosen from a group of graduates who were interested in gaining experience with the corporation and began his three-month paid internship on June 8, working in general aviation maintenance and servicing in the 3M aviation facilities at Holman Field in St. Paul.

3M operates a fleet of Gulf Stream model G-IV twin engine turbine aircraft. As an intern, Jerdee will work directly with 10 of the 30 people in the department, alternating from department to department to gain exposure to many areas of the operation. This is the first internship agreement between the aviation campus and a major corporation.

A 1987 graduate of Lake Park high school, Jerdee entered the aviation maintenance technology major in Thief River Falls during the spring quarter of 1991. His father, Ed, lives at rural Lake Park.

The aviation maintenance program at Northwest Technical College is considered to be one of the largest and most complete in the nation. In the last four years the aviation campus at the Thief River Falls regional airport has added a large classroom and office complex, a 35,000 square foot hangar and a Boeing 727-100 aircraft to its inventory.

ASCS announces new noxious weed policy for acres in CRP

A new noxious weed policy for Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) acres has been adopted by the State of Minnesota, according to Karen Fredrickson, acting director of the Pennington County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and Jerome Turgeon, Marshall county ASCS director.

Under the new policy, noxious weeds found by spot check or reported to the county office will be sent to the local county weed inspector. The county weed inspector will inspect the field and notify the producer that noxious weeds are present on the land. If they have not gone to seed, the inspector will specify a time period for them to be clipped so they do not go to seed.

In the event the weeds are not destroyed prior to going to seed, the county weed inspector will notify the county ASCS office of the name of the landowner, description of the land, acres infested and the type of weeds. The local ASCS committee will then assess the penalty for violation. Penalties can vary from $18 per acre to termination of the CRP contract.

The county offices encourage producers to inspect their CRP fields early and use proper control measures to control noxious weeds and prevent their going to seed.

Normally the weeds are clipped as a control measure, but there are cases where the weeds continue to appear each year. In these cases it may be permissible to use chemical control. Prior to using chemical control, the land owner should contact the ASCS office and have the CRP conservation plan revised to include the use of chemical to control noxious weeds.

The Declaration of Independence

The ROOTS of DEMOCRACY

When in the Course of human events it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his Assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless these people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected, whereby the Legislative powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise, the State remaining in the meantime exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States, for that purpose obstructing the Laws of Naturalization of Foreigners, refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of Lands.

He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for establishing Judiciary powers

He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace Standing Armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to the Civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his Assent to their Acts of pretended Legislation For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us For protecting them by a mock Trial from punishment for any Murders which they should commit on the Inhabitants of these States. For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world. For imposing Taxes on us without our Consent For depriving us in many cases of the benefits of Trial by Jury For transporting us beyond Seas to be tried for pretended offenses. For abolishing the free System of English Laws in a neighboring Province, establishing therein an Arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these Colonies For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws and altering fundamentally the Forms of our Governments For suspending our own Legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever

He has abdicated Government here by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our Coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large Armies of foreign Mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of Cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized nation

He has constrained our fellow Citizens taken Captive on the high Seas to bear Arms against their Country, to become the executioners of their friends, and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian Savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions In every stage of these Oppressions We have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms. Our repeated Petitions have been answered by repeated injury A Prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people. Nor have We been wanting in attention to our British brethren We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our Separation and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, Enemies in War, in Peace Friends.

WE, THEREFORE, the Representatives of the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name and by authority of the good People of these Colonies solemnly publish and declare That these United Colonies are and of Right ought to be FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES, that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our sacred Honor

Keeping the commandments in the new covenant spirit

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

"You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your mind, and with all your strength" (Mark 12:30). This means that you shall serve only Him, love only Him, obey only Him, please only Him, worship only Him, glorify only Him, and do only His Will. This means you shall only do those things that are pleasing in His sight (John 8:29, 2 Cor. 5:9). You shall do well, practice righteousness and patience toward others, and continually do acts of kindness and charity (Matt. 6:16; 1 John 4:7). This means you must put up with the short-comings of others, forgive everyone their trespasses against you daily, and practice all the fruits of the Spirit (Matt. 6:14; Gal. 5:22-23). You are to always be in a joyful mood and make every day a day you live for God. Then, when it is God's day, it will be a good day.

Are all of your ways pleasing to God today? Are you going to please Him in all things or some things? Pleasing God in all things is being single-minded, not double-minded (James 1:6, 8). Are you going to do only God's Will today, or a little bit of Satan's too, by living to please the flesh? Are you bringing all your ways into subjection to Christ (2 Cor. 10:5)? Are you doing what Christ would have you do, or are you holding out a little? Is your heart pure before God, or partially pure? Are you off to a physical start each day, or are you off to a spiritual start by studying God's word? Do you think of pleasing God all day, or do you even think about Him at all? What do you think about the most each day? Do you give God all of your troubles, or do you try to solve them yourself without His help (1 Peter 5:7)?

Are you still trying to do God's job of converting your spouse (1 Peter 3:1)? Who do you think you are—God? Remember, God is the only one who can convert or change any person. He is the one who causes the growth (1 Cor. 3:7). We should teach by our example. Then we know that we have the log out of our own eye and are ready to give a good answer when asked (Matt. 7:3-5; 2 Tim. 2:15). Many religious people are trying to convert the world to their beliefs when they are still unconverted before God themselves.

We are to love the Lord wholeheartedly and we are to love our neighbor as ourselves (Mark 12:31). When we wholeheartedly serve others for the Lord, we are wholeheartedly serving the Lord (Matt 25:40). We cannot do one without doing the other, and when we do both, we are keeping the commandments in the new covenant spirit.

VOLUME-BASED PRICING GARBAGE COLLECTION SYSTEM
THIS AD IS THE THIRD IN A SERIES OF ADS EXPLAINING THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE NEW VOLUME-BASED GARBAGE COLLECTION SYSTEM.
On July 1, the Thief River Falls sanitation department will begin implementing a volume-based price system for garbage pick-up. Monthly collection fees for the volume-based garbage pick-up will run at six levels, each receiving a different number of garbage bags.
Broken glass and wet garbage, such as table scraps, may be placed in separate bags not marked "City of Thief River Falls."
Boxes will be classified as "bulky items" when filled, and a sticker will be required to dispose of them. Boxes must be a size and weight that allows them to be picked up, within reason, by two employees. Empty boxes will be picked up at no additional cost.
Construction debris is the contractor's responsibility. This debris includes roofing, siding, old carpeting, etc. More information on volume-based garbage pick-up will follow in next week's Times as part 4 in a series of ads.

Will Anglers Have To Get The Lead Out...... Of Their Tackle Boxes?

Fishermen—or fisherpersons or fisherpeople or fishers, if you happen to be a neutral gender freak—tend to be a fairly patient lot. They may take to the lakes and streams with great optimism, enthusiasm and expectations, but by and large they are realists who know fish are not always easily caught and so are content to sit on rocks, stumps or wooden boat seats for hours staring at immobile rod tips and limp line just for the joy of being there and doing that instead of somewhere else doing something more productive.

Said one angler to his wife when she mentioned after several fishless hours that the fish didn't seem to be biting that day: "You said you wanted to go fishing, didn't you? Well, we're fishing."

Anglers seem to be of one mind in agreeing with the oft-repeated slogan that "The Worst Day Fishing Beats The Best Day At Work." They put up with balky motors, leaky boats, wind, rain, cold, searing sun, backlashes, tangled lines, broken lines, lost lures, lost fish, lost tempers, missed meals, and just about everything else imaginable while in quest of their finny quarry.

But don't mess around with their choice of where to fish or, most importantly, how to fish. Anglers are slow to anger, but they know how to stay mad a long, long time!

We can bet the bulk of the nation's 60 million anglers shook their collective heads, rolled their collective eyes and muttered expletives under their collective breaths when they heard about the Environmental Protection Agency issuing a statement that it would propose regulatory action to ban lead sinkers. The EPA said it was responding to a suit filed in March by the New York-based Environmental Defense Fund.

The EPA action is said to be "in response to research that shows lead poisoning contributes to the death of swans, loons, cranes and other waterfowl."

Unnecessary loss of birds should be avoided to the greatest extent possible. Regulations have been adopted by the United States and state governments to ban the use of lead shot in waterfowl hunting, thereby reducing the amount of lead pellets which settle into the shallow water marshes where they can be ingested by feeding waterfowl. The pellets are ground in the birds' gizzards and the lead enters their bloodstream with often fatal results.

A good case can be made for the value of reducing the amount of small lead pellets in shallow areas where waterfowl feed. The likelihood of their being picked up with food by the bottom-feeding birds is quite high. We doubt that the same situation exists with lead fishing sinkers as it does with lead shot.

Most sinkers used in fishing are considerably heavier and larger than even the largest shotgun pellets. The exception, of course, is split shot which may be comparable in size to some of the larger pellets. Lead has been an ideal material for split shot because it not only has the necessary density for weight but it is soft enough to be pinched onto a line and then spread open again a number of times.

Furthermore, most of the sinkers are used in deeper water than where most waterfowl feed. It would seem like the sinkers lost in that water would pose an insignificant threat to waterfowl.

After the EPA spends a few million dollars to research the "problem" presented by the EDF suit, we hope it has the good sense to consider what sinkers may be a threat and which aren't. Sixty million fishermen (fisherpersons, fisherpeople, fishers) aren't going to be very happy with an all-out ban. Especially when it serves no real purpose from the standpoint of environmental protection.

Value Of Minnesota Farms Is Increasing

Back in 1982 Minnesota's average farm, including land and buildings, was valued at a total of $375,400. It was a record amount as land values had soared due to speculation and the widely-held view that "there will never be any more land than there is right now."

Inability of the land to produce revenue in relation to its cost, especially when adverse weather reduced or eliminated harvest for several successive years, caused a rapid decline in farm value. The decline wasn't as rapid as the rise (values went from about $110,000 in 1979 to over $300,000 in 1980) but it was substantial, dropping to about $190,000 in 1987.

Since then the rise has been fairly consistent each year, peaking at just under $300,000 for 1991 and remaining at about that amount for 1992. Part of the increase is attributed to larger farms and inflation.

Total value of land and buildings for all Minnesota farms in 1992 was $26.2 billion—a long way from the nearly $39 billion total in 1981. The accompanying chart shows the wide fluctuation in farm values since 1950.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

The Fourth of July serves to remind us of the most basic tenet of our American heritage, freedom—the freedom to pursue and achieve the best of things for ourselves and those we hold dear.

This year, as we celebrate Independence Day, we at Northwest Beverage, Inc., also mark the 10th anniversary of a simple phrase, one that reflects the essence of personal freedom, and its necessary compatriot, personal responsibility. That phrase—"Now When to Say When"—should remind each of us this Fourth of July to celebrate responsibly, to use or volunteer to be a designated driver, and to indeed act as our founding fathers trusted us to act when they secured our freedom.

Sincerely,
Shawn Newland, president
Northwest Beverage, Inc.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota July 1, 1943

From The Times Files of Fifty Years Ago

Definite Action Taken to Cancel County Fair

"Directors of the Pennington County Agricultural society at a meeting Tuesday took official action to cancel the 1943 county fair, held in the past years, the first week in August. The action was in common with that of a majority of other fair boards in Minnesota. Tentative plans were discussed for holding a county 4-H festival later in the summer."

Fireworks Here on July 4th

"With the pall of war hanging over the nation, no plans have been made by communities in this section of the state for the usual Fourth of July celebrations next Sunday and with gasoline rationing in effect fewer residents will make trips to lake resorts over the double holiday than in former years. However as a reminder of the nation's birthday, arrangements have been made as in the past years for a fireworks display in Thief River Falls at dusk Sunday evening. The display, sponsored by the Civic and Commerce association in cooperation with the city council, will originate on the east of the river near the Third st. bridge."

From the Editorial Page

"The President will not put the nation's house in order merely by giving the newspapers a tongue lashing. The solution to our domestic difficulties is not so easy. We have reached the point where we must quit taking stimulants and start the very unpleasant procedure of sobering up. A nation that has been kept drunk for ten years is not going to take kindly to the idea of getting along without that regular shot in the arm from the federal treasury."

Topics of the Times

—We hope those fellows who are betting the war in Europe will be over this year win their wagers, although it doesn't look anything like a cinch.

—Speaking of unusual situations, a Montevideo woman, age 96, last week helped celebrate her daughter's golden wedding anniversary.

—The government in waging an "all-out" war meaning possibly that the citizenry is all out of everything.

—Remember way back a quarter centry ago when local banks collected ten per cent interest on notes and paid as high as six per cent on time deposits.

—Quoted advice: If a public speaker doesn't strike oil during the first two minutes, he might just as well stop boring.

—Race riots in this country suggest the question, "What are we fighting for in this war?"

—The Italian boot, says the Mahnomen Pioneer, seems to be suffering from fallen arches.

—This is one year when Fourth of July celebrations promise to be of the safe and sane variety.

—To attempt to halt inflation through the use of subsidies is, as a commentator suggests, about like King Canute attempting to sweep back the tide with a broom.

—The picnic season is in full swing, and the mosquitoes are taking a more than academic interest.

—Add things we didn't know until now: Goh is the Chinese word of sailor.

—History repeating itself: Now the New Deal has its own Teapot Dome scandal in the Wyoming oil fields.

—We agree with Billy Noonan of Baudett: Many times when someone says, "I have a good one for your column," it needs laundering.

—It would be nice if, as someone has suggested, the rule, "Three strikes and out", would apply also to John L. Lewis.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR

St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota July 5, 1893

From Newspaper Files Of One Hundred Years Ago

St. Hilaire's Fourth of July Celebration

"Early risers yesterday morning awoke to find one of the heaviest rains of the season on tap. The rain commenced about five o'clock and continued until after ten. It looked slim for a celebration but by noon the clouds cleared away. A good sized crowd came in from the country in the afternoon and the main part of the program was gone through with. In the free-for-all horse race S. M. Dainard's horse took first money, J. A. Dainard's second and S. M. Hoff's third. In the ox team race Jobo Googstrom took the first prize of a sewing machine furnished by S. M. Dainard and A. J. Anderson the second prize of 100 pounds of flour furnished by Marshall & Johnson. In the bareback ox race, K. Swenson took first prize and Carl Rolland second. These races proved to be the most laughable of all. In the team race one team turned off at Olson's for a lunch at the hay stack and could not be coaxed to finish. In the bareback race an ox gave the crowd a sample of bucking that would make a bronco blush. The rider was thrown but fortunately not hurt. Peter Sanderson took first prize in the free-for-all foot race and Charles Fellman second. In the boys' foot races, A. Fellman, Axel Rod, J. Englund and Carl Carlson were winners. In the farmers' foot race Herman Peterson came in first and Ole Loe second. In the potatoe race Axel Rod first and Charles Fellman second. Cracker race had Axel Rod first, David Swenson second and John Pelterson third. The tug of war between S. M. Dainard and H. E. Ives, captains with ten men each, was won by Ives. The fun in the evening was barely commenced when we were favored with another good rain, but as soon as it cleared off, dancing was resumed in the bowery and continued until morning. The celebration was a success notwithstanding the dampness and it has encouraged our citizens so that another year we intend to do much better."

Braband to take post in Glencoe

Jon Braband, associate administrator at Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls for the past seven year, has resigned to accept the position of chief executive officer at the Glencoe Area Health Center (hospital and C&NC unit) in Glencoe

The resignation was announced by Richard Spyhalski, CEO of Northwest Medical Center, who said Braband will begin duties in his new position on Monday, July 26.

Spyhalski attributes a great deal of the local medical center's success to Braband

"I have personally and professionally known Jon for more than seven years and have relied on him with absolute confidence with regard to his administrative skills," Spyhalski said. "It is with many regrets and mixed emotions that I have accepted his resignation."

Braband said the new position will provide him with new and greater challenges and allow his family to live in an area closer to other family members.

"The CEO position at Glencoe promises to be a very challenging one," Spyhalski said. "Employees at Northwest Medical Center wish to express their congratulations and best wishes to Mr. Braband."

Peterson votes against two federal projects

Congressman Collin Peterson was among representatives to vote against two costly federal projects in an effort to "put this country on the road to realistic deficit reduction."

Peterson opposed Space Station fund, stating that "Members of Congress need to get their heads out of the clouds and their feet on the ground" when it comes to the federal budget.

"In 1984, NASA said that the Space Station Freedom would cost $8 billion," Peterson continued. "Since then, NASA decreased Freedom's mission, while increasing its costs for working Americans."

According to Citizens Against Government Waste, current space station expenditures are approximately $9 billion. NASA estimates these costs will rise to at least another $10.5 billion over five years.

Peterson also plans to vote against funding the controversial Superconducting Supercollider (SSC) project.

"At this point, the Supercollider is the biggest pork barrel we've got going," said Peterson. "Taxpayers shouldn't have to foot the bill for an $8.1 billion program that's been ranked by the Department of Energy as 10th out of 11 projects in terms of importance.

"It's time we smash the Supercollider and other wasteful spending. We should be involved in high-tech projects both in space and here at home, but we need to get our financial house in order first."
